

Survival Training Saves Boys

6 Returned Home After Area Search

The fate of six Saugerties area Boy Scouts lost for more than 12 hours during the weekend in the Overlook Mountain section some 3,125 feet above sea level depended on the expert tracking of two experienced woodsmen and the survival training the boys received in the Scouting program.

Forest Ranger Aaron Van de Bogart of Wittenberg and Gordon Walker, a fire warden and experienced woodsman came upon the camp of sleeping scouts at about 4 a. m. Sunday on the south slope of Indian Head mountain. After a two-hour downhill jaunt the boys were brought to the Herbert Keefe farm where they contacted search party headquarters by telephone. They were tired, cold and hungry, but otherwise unharmed.

Near County Line

The scouts were camped at a point near the Greene-Ulster County line and were brought out at a point near Shady at about 6 a. m.

The boys, all members of Troop 31, sponsored by Centerville Fire Company, included Star Scout Charles Rowell, 15; Wayne Myer, 15; Christopher Markunas, 13; Philip Pantano, 13 and his brother, Anthony, 12, and Raymond Whitaker.

More than 100 volunteer searchers using jeeps, bulldozers, walkie-talkie radios and a mobile radio unit of Ulster County Mutual Aid moved into the area late Saturday afternoon for the search.

The mobile unit of Mutual Aid was in charge of Ulster County Fire Coordinator Winfred Snyder, who stayed with the search until its conclusion.

CB's Help

Seventy Citizen Band radio operators, many members of the 11-Meter CB Club aided with the communications and helped move equipment into the area.

The searchers include state police, constables, forest rangers, volunteer firemen and many others.

Assistant Scoutmaster Thomas Atkins and Richard Kime, committee men, both of Troop 31 were leading 18 scouts down the ice-covered slopes when one of the three patrols became separated.

Forest Ranger Van de Bogart said the lost patrol used good judgment. When it became apparent they could go no further in the dark, they set up camp, built a fire and bedded down for the night.

When they knew they were lost, they built a smoke fire, but the wind kept the signal close to the ground. More than 12

KKK's Integration Escape: An All-White Community

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A new plan to escape integration is being considered by Ku Klux Klan leaders who spoke at a mass Klan rally attended by Black Muslims.

Robert Shelton of Tuscaloosa, Ala., imperial wizard of the United Klans of America, Inc., told The Associated Press in an interview Sunday night that the Klan is considering a pilot private Caucasian community.

"It's still in the planning stage," he said, "and it may be more than a year before anything is started. Architects are working on it now."

Earlier, at a rally in Atlanta, Calvin Craig, grand dragon of the Georgia Klan, described Muslim Malcolm X as the coming Negro leader. He said that Martin Luther King Jr., president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, "has gone as far as he can with the peaceful movement. The Negroes realize that even with peace, they are not going to get what they want."

Craig said the Klan was not looking for trouble but would use what he called jet-age resistance. "We'll fight if we're attacked," he said.

Shelton said the experimental project "probably will be attempted on 45 or 50 acres of

WELCOMED BY MOTHER—Two of the six Boy Scouts of Troop 31, Centerville are greeted here by their mother at Centerville Firehall Sunday morning after they were brought out of the woods in the Overlook Mountain section by a search party. The boys are Philip Pantano, 13 and his brother, Anthony, 12. The mother is Mrs. John Satterfield of Blue Mountain. Also here are Raymond Whitaker (left) and Wayne Myer, who were with the scout patrol missing for more than 12 hours during the weekend. The other boys in the group, Charles Rowell, 15 and Christopher Markunas, 13, had already left for home when the picture was taken by Centerville Fire Company photographer, Gene Patryk.

Civil Rights Battle Moves Into 13th Day

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate civil rights battle moves into its 13th day today with leaders asking 12-hour daily sessions in hopes of getting a vote by midweek on bringing the bill to the floor.

A steady stream of Dixie oratory, with more on tap, raises doubts that Democratic leader Mike Mansfield's timetable can be kept.

No Objections

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., floor general for the 19 Southerners fighting the measure, made no objection this weekend when the assistant Democratic leader, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, floor manager for the legislation, asked unanimous consent to bring the Senate in two hours earlier than usual.

Plans are to keep the Senate in session until 10 p. m. each night.

In the first two weeks of the civil rights fight the Senate met at 11 a. m., an hour early, and kept grinding away until well past the dinner hour. Last Thursday, when a Democratic fund-raising dinner with President Johnson as chief speaker was held, the Senate quit early.

May Spark Speed

Hope for a brief Easter recess, possibly from Friday through Monday, may speed calling up the bill.

Even after the measure reaches the floor, unlimited debate still will be possible on a promised effort by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to send it to the Judiciary Committee for hearings. There could be unlimited debate too, on amendments, substitutes or other actions. All this talk could be cut off, however, if leaders muster the two-thirds majority required for cloture.

The plan for early and late sessions cramped Senate committee activities. The Rules Committee, investigating activities of Bobby Baker, resigned Senate Democratic secretary, has permission to meet daily, however, even while the Senate is in session.

The House concerns itself

Fliers To Be Freed By Soviet To Be Back Soon In This Country

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has agreed to return two American fliers shot down over East Germany March 10. Their fellow crewman was released Saturday.

The announcement that the two were to be freed was made Sunday by Secretary of State Dean Rusk on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation." He got the word by telephone from Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin just before going on the air.

"I would hope the matter will now be taken off the books," Rusk said. The secretary did not say when the fliers would be freed, only that "they shortly will be back in this country."

Freed Saturday

The airmen are Capt. David I. Holland, 35, of Holland, Minn., and Melvin J. Kessler, 31, of Philadelphia. The third member of the crew, Lt. Harold W. Welch, 24, of Detroit, was freed by Soviet authorities Saturday.

The Americans were aboard a reconnaissance plane shot down by Soviet fighters in East German airspace. The three parachuted to safety.

Rusk said there were no dealings with the East Germans in getting the fliers released. He denied that the plane was on a spying mission.

The Russians have been insisting that the fate of the Americans was a matter to be settled by the United States and East Germany. Washington has refused to deal with the East German government, contending the Soviet Union is still the occupation authority in East Germany.

Red's Conclusion

The Russians "are simply releasing" the men, Rusk said. "The Soviets came to their own conclusion these men should be released."

The secretary sidestepped, however, a question as to whether the United States had established the principle that the incident was a Soviet responsibility.

At a news conference Saturday, President Johnson declined comment on Welch's release and did not discuss the plane incident.

Good Friday Will Be Observed Here

Good Friday will be observed as usual throughout the city with religious services marking the day in many of the churches.

City offices, with the exception of the police department, will close at noon to allow employees to attend the church of their choice.

Many of the stores in the business areas will close between noon and 3 o'clock to permit employees to attend church. Others will permit their employees to take time off in shifts.

Can't Agree With Family

Foreman Quits as Ruby Head Defense Counsel

DALLAS (AP)—Houston Attorney Percy Foreman said today he was pulling out of the Jack Ruby case because of disagreements with members of Ruby's family. Foreman took over from Melvin Belli as chief defense counsel for the slayer of Lee Harvey Oswald late last week.

Foreman said the disagreement was over his relations with the press.

He said Eva Grant, one of Ruby's sisters, advised him to limit his discussions with newsmen to "no comment." Foreman said he thought that was wrong.

Sunday Meeting

The 61-year-old, 6-foot-4 lawyer met with Ruby Sunday for the first time since agreeing last Thursday to take over the defense of the killer of President John F. Kennedy's accused assassin.

He had said he would meet again today with Ruby, 52-year-old night club operator who was found guilty of murder with malice and given the death penalty on March 15 for the slaying of Oswald.

But Foreman told newsmen at the courthouse he was bowing out, and read them a letter he said he had written Ruby, telling him of his decision.

Would Keep Public Wise

Telling of his disagreement with Mrs. Grant, Foreman said he felt Ruby had been tried and convicted in news media before his trial in court. He said he thought it necessary to keep the public informed of developments in the case.

Two members of Ruby's original defense team—Joe Tonnahill of Jasper, Tex., and Phil Burleson of Dallas—met with Foreman after Ruby dismissed Belli a week ago.

Foreman had a long session with the other two lawyers Sunday and afterward cautiously showed optimism, saying:

"I certainly hope to reverse the sentence. But it would be presumptuous for me to make a prediction. I am no miracle worker."

Ulster Democratic Delegates Favor Resnick Against Congressman Wharton

Joseph Y. Resnick, 39-year-old Ellenville industrialist who founded Channel Master Corporation 15 years ago, was unanimously endorsed as Democratic candidate for Congress by delegates to the unofficial Ulster County Democratic convention Saturday at the county courthouse.

Resnick had been recommended by a caucus of county chairmen and delegates from the five counties of the 28th Congressional District. If endorsed by the other four counties—Dutchess, Columbia, Greene and Schoharie—he will oppose the Republican incumbent, J. Ernest Wharton.

The convention also endorsed Supervisor George J. Majestic of the Town of Gardiner for state senator from the 34th district. He was recommended by the chairman of Ulster, Greene, Sullivan and Delaware counties. If nominated officially, he will oppose Senator E. Ogden Bush, Republican incumbent.

Nominations for Ulster county posts were: John Parete, of Stone Ridge, for treasurer; John J.

Schick, of Kingston, for district attorney; and John Hogan of Kingston for coroner. Parete is an IBM employee and Hogan is employed by a Dutchess county beverage firm.

Robert Mandia of Clintondale, president of the Mid-Hudson Wine Growers Association, was the convention's choice for the Assembly nomination. He will oppose incumbent Republican Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock.

Although Schick was not available for comment this morning, it was learned that the Kingston attorney may decline the nomination for district attorney. His commitment to the other candidates as secretary of the executive committee of the county Democratic party may mitigate against his seeking office, it was learned.

In a surprise development, Mrs. Dorothy Narel of West Hurley unseated the veteran incumbent, Mrs. Harriet Allen Kerr of New Paltz, in a close vote, 103 to 99, for Democratic state committeewoman from Ulster county.

Following Mrs. Narel's ac-

CRRemark Gets Big Outburst

Convention Plans For Contract Talk

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—President Johnson called for a "warm hearted war" today for the well-being of the American people.

The President spoke in his first address to the big labor organization, at the annual convention of the United Auto Workers Union in the Atlantic City Convention Hall. This will be the setting for Johnson's expected nomination for the presidency by the Democratic party next August.

Three thousand delegates and perhaps 9,000 guests gave the chief executive a rousing welcome and broke into his address with loud and frequent applause.

Applauded on CR

One of the loudest outbursts came when he assured the convention that "we are going to pass the civil rights bill if it takes all summer."

The convention has adopted a resolution backing the bill. The President was not making a political speech labeled as such. But the talk had political overtones.

His party and he, himself, are counting on heavy labor backing.

Johnson lauded the UAW as "a clean, honest and progressive union led by President Reuther and his fellow officials, all elected democratically by your votes."

He said that whatever the challenges or the complexities or the crises confronting the nation, it never stands straighter or stronger in the world than does the individual at home. He said that militarily this nation is strong and no country is stronger.

This led Johnson to the point of declaring that now the times at home require "a warm hearted war for the well-being of the people at home."

This brought a burst of applause.

There was another when Johnson assured the UAW that

Scientists Find Possible New Cause of Much Asthma

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A

yeast-like mold that may be growing inside half the world's inhabitants has been found to cause asthma, an allergy specialist said today.

Dr. Irving H. Itkin, head of allergy and asthma research at National Jewish Hospital, said in an interview that the mold, known as Candida albicans grows in any warm, moist area—and it is often found in a human's mouth or throat.

"Possibly half the human population carries it around," Itkin said.

The growth of the mold, Itkin added, is encouraged by prolonged use of antibiotics and steroid drugs used to treat asthma and arthritis.

Itkin also said that the presence of the mold within one's body does not necessarily mean the person is susceptible to asthma. Only those who are sensitive—or allergic—to the mold will probably get asthma.

The mold itself doesn't generally cause disease—although it has been blamed for thrush, a childhood ailment encouraged by lack of vitamins. Thrush is no longer common in the United States and usually, said Itkin, the mold grows quite harmlessly.

The presence of the mold, Itkin said, has been known for

World Condition Revealed In U.S. Decision on Asia

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — The American decision on Southeast Asia reveals about as well as anything the present hung-up condition of the world. Nothing is settled but no disasters are visible.

There are no crises and except for the Greek-Turkish war on Cyprus and the Vietnamese war tensions at the moment are not great. So the Johnson administration has time for calm appraisals and a long look.

No wonder it has taken time to continue giving South Viet Nam more military and economic aid, but more of it, to go on fighting the Communist guerrillas from North Viet Nam. It says it will do so indefinitely.

The American policy in Southeast Asia is, in a way, a continuation of the American policy after World War II when the Russians under Stalin seemed at the time determined to take over Europe.

The Marshall Plan was rooted in a long look, which turned out well.

It was created to give Western Europe economic help to get on its feet and, by so doing, prevent a collapse which would have made a Communist seizure easy or inevitable.

At the same time, through

American alliances and bases, the Soviet Union was ringed militarily to prevent any forcible expansion. The purpose behind it was simple.

It was the hope that in time internal changes or frictions would diminish the Communist missionary zeal, at least to the point where it could be endured.

After Stalin's death changes did take place. The Russians, becoming more affluent and therefore with more to lose in a conflict, became less belligerent.

Internal Trouble

The historic Russian-Chinese split gave communism internal concerns.

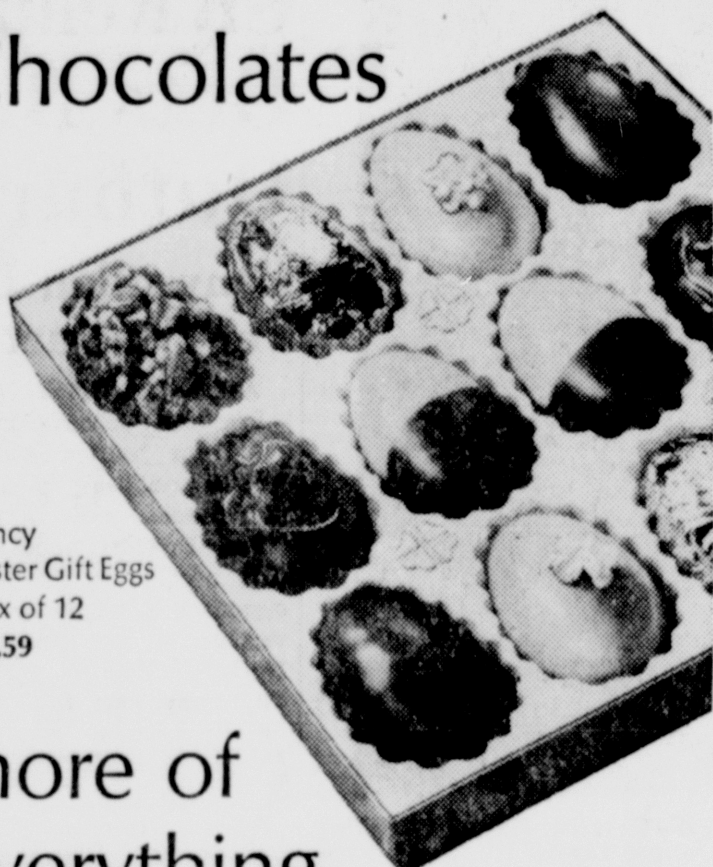

It is hard to believe Red China will not eventually try to take over all Asia, either through direct conquest or intimidating now independent countries into becoming satellites, which would be the same thing.

As in the case of the Soviet Union, so long as Southeast Asia can be kept free of Red China's domination, there can be hope that changes or events there may divert both its course and its ambitions.

At best, this is a long hope. But the alternative seems certain: inevitable Chinese take-over if the United States gives up and pulls out of the area.

All this seems implicit although it was not stated in the statement put out last week by the White House after the return of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor from their

Seminar Slated On Religion at Local Hospital

An Irish-born psychiatrist who believes that religion is one of the solid things on which a psychiatrist can build in treating his patients is coming to address a seminar for the clergy on Counseling. Dr. Edgar B. Jackson is director of the Psychiatric Clinic in Buffalo. He was appointed to this position in July of last year. Previous to that he was affiliated with the University of Rochester Department of Psychiatry, and the Rochester Child Guidance Clinic.

"Religion means a personal relationship with God," he explains. "Much of the psychological uneasiness in the world today, is due to the fact that many persons see no specific purpose in life, no reason for being, no meaning in existence. Religious experience is one of the chief ways of supplying this lack."

Psychiatrists, Dr. Jackson points out, are "people helpers." "And you cannot help people unless you understand as much as possible about them. In treating them, you cannot divorce what may be the most important aspect of their lives, their religion."

He is strongly impressed with the role that pastoral counseling can play in mental health. Because of the lack of psychiatric personnel, he explains, "the clergyman is often the first line of defense. With a little training in the fundamentals of scientific counseling, he can often do an outstanding job. If he feels comfortable with psychiatry and psychiatrists, he will not hesitate to refer a case that is out of his depth."

In his own practice, Dr. Jackson points out that 20% of the cases referred to him come from physicians, and 80% from clergymen.

Dr. Jackson studied medicine at Queen's University of Belfast, Ireland, and at the Royal College of Physicians in Edinburgh. He also studied theology for three years while attending medical school. He interned in medicine in Ireland, and then came to this country to study at the Menninger Clinic in Topeka, and the University of Iowa.

The seminar at which Dr. Jackson will speak in Kingston is to be held at the Benedictine Hospital, in the auditorium of the School of Nursing on the morning of Thursday, April 16. Further details will be announced.

Easter Seal Drive In Last Appeal

Larry V. Bogert, 1964 chairman of the Easter Seal Campaign in Ulster County, issued a final appeal today on behalf of the handicapped children of New York State.

"In looking upon these youngsters just starting life," said Bogert, "and each one of them with such a handicap, I think how lucky my family and I have been, for crippling accidents strike one out of every five families each year." "In keeping with the American tradition of helping our neighbors, we must provide these handicapped youngsters with an opportunity to help themselves become successful and useful citizens and for this we need funds."

"Your Easter Seal Society has made great strides," continued Bogert, "but much remains to be done. If you have not yet contributed to this great cause, please do so today. I'm sure your Easter will be a happier one as a result."

According to Bogert, the contributed funds support rehabilitation services for the handicapped. The Easter Seal campaign ends on Easter Sunday, March 29. Contributions may be mailed to Robert C. Murray, treasurer, Easter Seal Appeal, State of New York National Bank, Kingston.

'KICKS' CAN BE DANGEROUS

Every parent knows that two of the most dangerous words in the English language are "kicks" and "chicken."

Whenever young people can't find any earthly excuse for doing something he knows is completely silly or very dangerous, he does it for "kicks."

If he doesn't do it, he's "chicken" and if he's "chicken" he regards himself as socially dead with his companions.

One of the most dangerous ways of doing something for "kicks" is the use of narcotics which could result in addiction and the narcotic habit in youngsters breeds crime. Initially, the crimes are petty, but as the needs grow stronger, the crimes become greater. As pointed out by John J. Belizzi, director of the New York State Bureau of Narcotic Control, young addicts are introduced to the habit by friends. Teenagers want to be a part of the crowd. They start with marijuana and continue on to heroin. And there is almost nothing that can be done to cure the heroin addict. Since there is no drug cure, the best weapon is prevention.

The prime target in prevention is the racketeer who sells drugs to youngsters. However, in order to prevent the racketeer from getting a foothold in the area, the authorities must have the cooperation of the public.

The police authorities cannot do it alone. They must have the assistance of parents, school authorities and the citizens of the community. All along the line everybody must face up to the situation, lower the boom and put a stop to this dangerous practice.

Parents should instruct their children that this strange philosophy of seeking "kicks" and going along with the crowd could prove very serious. They should explain to them that young people who make a habit of using drugs, even just for "kicks," will not be able to stand up to the pressures and challenges of the space age.

Where there is evidence or suspicion of the sale or use of narcotics, it is the patriotic duty of every citizen to inform the authorities.

Ruby's attorney says of Dallas, "This town stinks." The bellicose Mr. Belli has his own ways of winning friends and influencing people.

WARNINGS SAVE LIVES

A remarkable feature of the recent Ohio Valley floods is the low death toll. Only 11 fatalities were directly attributed to the high waters.

That is 11 too many, yet it is relatively few when one considers that an estimated 25,000 families were left homeless, at least temporarily. By comparison, in the 1937 high water deaths were counted at 250, and in the great flood of 1913 which extended on down into the Mississippi, 732 lost their lives.

The explanation seems to be that in this March flood advance warnings enabled the towns to complete their evacuations before the water moved in. This is true also when hurricanes strike; modern warning systems save many lives.

DODD HITS THE PRESS

Thomas J. Dodd, the sometimes erratic senator from Connecticut, has a new whipping boy. In his comment on the report of the United Nations fact-finding mission to Vietnam, he blames "inaccurate reporting in newspapers" for the trouble in that disturbed country. The press, he charges, has distorted facts to the benefit of communist regimes around the world.

The senator is a cautious man. He names no paper to which his charge may apply. Thus he escapes any demand for proof. At the same time, unfortunately, he thus puts all papers under suspicion.

Such glib and unfair charges would be unworthy of notice except for the fact they are made by a United States senator. That fact also makes such a scattergun blast un-

REFLECTIONS ON TWO POWER VACUUMS

When the United States failed to back up the Free Cubans at the Bay of Pigs, Charles de Gaulle, rightly or wrongly, drew two conclusions. The first was that Americans, though verbally committed to come to the aid of their friends by virtue of NATO in Europe and the Monroe Doctrine in the western hemisphere, could not necessarily be counted on in a pinch. The second conclusion, which followed from the first, was that a power vacuum threatened in Latin America.

It is this second conclusion that explains the de Gaulle appearance in Mexico. The de Gaulle tour may not produce very much, for the Mexicans are quite competent to take care of themselves in their relations with foreign powers. But when de Gaulle stood up in French Army uniform beside President Lopez Mateos of Mexico, it stirred old diplomatic hands to an ironic reminder. No important French official had appeared in Mexico in army uniform for important state purposes since Marshal Francois Bazaine skedaddled out of the place a hundred years ago after the collapse of Emperor Louis Napoleon's dream of filling the Latin American power vacuum of 1861-65.

In that time of the American Civil War, the American President, Abraham Lincoln, had much less power to protect the western hemisphere than the U. S. has now. He would have had to take a Bay of Pigs if it had been presented to him. Unable to act, Lincoln merely brooded when the Emperor of the French sent Maximilian, the unemployed brother of the Hapsburg Emperor of Austria, to sit on a newly created throne in Mexico. Nevertheless, Lincoln was not in the habit of taking things lying down.

When someone asked him "how about the French army in Mexico?" Lincoln spoke his mind. "I'm not exactly 'scoored,'" he said, "but I don't like the looks of the thing. Napoleon has taken advantage of our weakness in our time of trouble, and has attempted to found a monarchy on the soil of Mexico in utter disregard of the Monroe Doctrine. My policy is, attend to only one trouble at a time. If we get well out of our present difficulties and restore the union, I propose to notify Louis Napoleon that it is about time to take his army out of Mexico. When that army is gone, the Mexicans will take care of Maximilian."

The Civil War continued while Lincoln still brooded about the power vacuum in tropical America. Always creative, Lincoln let an emissary, F. B. Blair, make a visit behind the lines to the Confederate President Jefferson Davis. Blair's proposition to Davis was to call off the Civil War, put both the northern and southern troops under the command of Jeff Davis himself, and then turn the combined forces loose to throw Maximilian and his beautiful Empress Carlotta off the thrones of Mexico. The Blair mission failed, but after the Civil War was over the French took the hint and departed from this hemisphere.

Our ancestors of a hundred years ago, if they are now looking down upon us, must be amazed to see Khrushchev repeating the adventure of Louis Napoleon on the soil of present-day Cuba. And they must be equally amazed to see a modern French leader, Charles de Gaulle, concluding that Khrushchev can get away with it where the Emperor Louis Napoleon failed.

It is not necessarily written in the stars that de Gaulle's conclusion is correct. The U. S. may be up to its neck in troubles, but they are nothing so bad as a civil war. The story is that when the Cuban missile crisis was upon him, President Kennedy kept a card on his desk labeled "Berlin." He did not at the time have the information that Russia could not count on feeding itself in a war. Now that we have that information, we might do something to revive the spirit of Lincoln.

Watching Johnson on TV last week, I kept wondering where I had seen that veiled, half-suspicious, half don't-monkey-with-me look that greeted certain questions. It came to me much later that it was the look of Gary Cooper playing the sheriff in "High Noon." If a President capable of that look is goaded sufficiently by people who try to exploit a presumed Latin American power vacuum something might happen. Let us pray that it does.

THE WELL CHILD

CF Remains a Mystery, But Can Be Controlled

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Entrepreneur, M.D.

One of the mystery diseases of the medical profession is cystic fibrosis. This is because it takes different forms in different victims and is subject to wide variations.

Until recent advances were made, it caused more deaths in children under 7 than rheumatic fever, poliomyelitis and diabetes combined.

CF is a disease of the sweat glands, pancreas and mucous glands of the digestive tract and lungs but it usually involves one of these systems more severely than the others. Thus, a child might die of mucous obstruction of the lungs or the intestines.

If the sweat glands are involved, the child loses such quantities of salt in the perspiration that he could become an easy victim of heat stroke if placed in a hot environment.

And if the digestive juices put out by the pancreas are abnormal, the child is unable to digest fats and could die of malnutrition.

This disease is now known to be caused by a hereditary trait. It must be present in both parents in order to produce cystic fibrosis in an offspring. When both parents have this trait there is a three in four probability that any one of their children will have the disease.

Since there is no way to prevent the disease, measures for its control are of the greatest importance. Because early recognition is the key to treatment, doctors sought a simple diagnostic test.

All too often in the past the diagnosis was made only on the autopsy table. Then it was discovered that even in earliest infancy all babies with this disease had an abnormally high concentration of salt in their sweat. This led to the development of a simple test whereby a palm print on a chemically treated paper gave the answer immediately.

Once the hazards are known, your doctor can do much to improve a child's chances. Digestive juices from hog pancreas have been processed in such a way that when taken daily the victim can digest fats. Prompt treatment with antibiotics is essential to control respiratory infections because such infections go very hard with the child who has cystic fibrosis.

Such a child must be given the protection afforded by whooping cough and measles vaccines. When thick mucous secretions in the lungs are the main problem, the new L-cysteine derivative (Mucomyst) will help keep the air passages open. Vitamin A and D supplements are often helpful.

All these and other measures will control the disease so that the once-doomed child may grow to maturity.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

Like actors who ignore bad reviews, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge's top political workmen are shrugging off professional judgments that their man can't win the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

Their next hard act is on the May 15 Oregon primary, where Robert Mullen, chief of Lodge Washington headquarters, says "we are going for broke." They are already setting up shop there.

But the goal, with its prize of 18 convention delegates, is a long way off. In the spacious interval, Lodge leaders hope to build little bonfires of interest in many of the 33 states where they now claim some sort of organization.

THE LABOR WILL NOT BE EASY, despite rekindled excitement over Lodge after his whoppy New Hampshire write-in victory. Says a Colorado Republican leader:

"Out here most people may be inclined to think that Henry Cabot Lodge is a ski resort."

The Lodge people do not blink at such comments. They report that even professionals are writing Lodge leaders now, opening communications lines. Illinois, long marked down as "Goldwater country," is one state that has been heard from.

With the expected signal from Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, Lodge's own Massachusetts now will give him its 34 delegates and may add a bonus of a plump write-in in the state's primary April 28.

Richard Treadway, Massachusetts GOP national committeeman, is reported to have written Oregon's Gov. Mark Hatfield, saying "Lodge is our favorite son; please treat him well in Oregon."

ENCAMPED IN OREGON presumably for the duration are

Paul Grindle and David Goldberg, the Boston boys who masterminded the Lodge sweep in New Hampshire.

On the ballot, But the Boston boys have to woo two and a half times as many GOP voters as in New Hampshire. The cost could run to three times the $25,000 they spent in the Granite State.

On the ballot with Lodge are Sen. Barry Goldwater, New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, Richard Nixon, Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine. Lodge spokesmen argue that if they can whip this crowd, then Goldwater and Rockefeller will be dancing a meaningless minuet in the "key" California primary 17 days after Oregon.

Sources in Oregon freshly tapped by telephone interview, say Goldwater still holds a popular edge, though Rockefeller's early jump in organization has not been wiped out.

SOME WORD IS HEARD that Nixon, allegedly concerned over his fourth place write-in showing in New Hampshire, may allow a bigger try in Oregon. A respected eastern professional says: "Nixon can't be fourth in Oregon and keep alive."

Scranton's latest move in that state is puzzling politicians and observers anew. "Is he, or isn't he?" they ask.

He permitted his name to stay on the primary ballot. But when Pennsylvania State Chairman Craig Truax put up the required $300 and supplied state officials with Scranton material for a state-mailed voters' pamphlet covering all candidates, Scranton disavowed Truax and pulled the material out of the campaign.

The Lodge people missed the deadline for pamphlet material. But the Scranton pullout is the kind of thing that gives them heart that in Oregon they can bring off another New Hampshire.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The man had come a long way. He looked it. His lean face wore the fixed smile of fatigue. He drove the jungle roads out of San Juan in the listless manner of one who is neither awake nor asleep. He is a stubborn man—this Don Murray—and tenacity was about to pay off.

His squinted eyes mirrored the neat fiasco, the complicated banian trees, the colorful hibiscus, and the sporadic traffic going the other way. His goal was Castanar, a town of 400. It is a clearing between steep limestone cliffs. At Castanar, the termite build big bulbous homes in the trees. The noon sun stares hard without blinking, and even the banana leaves are still.

Mr. Murray is a movie star. He is different. On his shoulders, he carries Christianity and mercy. He starred in The Hoodlum Priest. He seems to feel that money is less important than mission. He belongs to the Church of the Brethren, a sect which helps refugees.

He arrived in Castanar in the afternoon and found the hospital. It looked like a motel with a hundred beds, a handful of doctors, a dozen nurses and nurses' aides, a cube of sugar in a bowl of spinach. Don Murray got out of the car, walked in and asked to see Nathan Leopold.

His man was in the laboratory. Mr. Leopold was leaning over a microscope, looking for hookworms. He was short and dark, a man with a receding hairline, poached eyes, and the cautious speech of the loser. He shook hands with Murray, removed his mask, and took him to a commissary for coffee. He does not like to take time off from his work, which is saving lives.

This is ironic. Leopold is a murderer. In 1924, he and a young man named Loeb killed a school child, Bobbie Franks. The crime was pointless. Loeb and Leopold wanted merely to prove how smart they were. They were tried in Cook County, Illinois, and it required the services of that lion of the law, Clarence Darrow, to keep them from the electric chair. They got life, plus 99 years.

Both boys came from rich mercantile families. Shame was so strong in both groups that they practically retired from the world. In the Leopold home, an empty dining room chair was placed at the table every night for years to remind everyone of the horror of the crime.

Loeb was homosexual, and was stabbed to death in prison. Leopold swam lazily through prison life for ten years, and then met a priest who gave him a new set of values. The young

Private Clubs' Status In the Civil Rights Bill

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The private club in America is headed for legal trouble — maybe lots of it. The civil rights bill already passed by the House and awaiting action in the Senate stipulates that in certain respects private clubs will no longer be private under the proposed law.

Not all private clubs will be affected but primarily those which provide lodging as well as restaurant service or swimming pools or the use of golf courses to guests of members or which allow patrons of a near-by hotel to use their facilities. Read literally, the proposed law would seem to mean that, while the private clubs are expected in many respects, the exemption does not cover club facilities which are made available to guests of members.

Are these guests to be regarded as part of the "public"? If a member chooses, for instance, to give a guest card to a Negro, the visitor must be furnished lodgings or permitted to use the golf course or swimming pool. If any of these facilities are denied to him, discrimination on the basis of color can be charged, and the club officers can be hauled into court. The same thing would be true with respect to guests who happen to be a particular religion or national origin.

The bill pending in the Senate says under Title II, Section 201: "(A) All persons shall be entitled to the full and equal enjoyment of the goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages, and accommodations of any place of public accommodation, as defined in this section, without discrimination or segregation on the ground of race, color, religion, or national origin."

(B) Each of the following establishments which serves the public is a place of public accommodation within the meaning of this title if its operations affect commerce, or if discrimination or segregation by it is supported by state action: "(1) Any inn, hotel, motel, or other establishment which provides lodging to transient guests, other than an establishment located within a building which contains not more than five rooms for rent or hire and which is actually occupied by the proprietor of such establishment as his residence."

Also, in other parts of the bill, among the facilities specifically listed as "public accommodations" which cannot engage in any form of discrimination are restaurants, cafeterias, lunchrooms, "or other facility principally engaged in selling food for consumption on the premises," and "places of exhibition or entertainment," such as movie houses, theaters, sports arenas and concert halls.

It has been assumed by many members of both Houses of Congress that private clubs are to be exempted, but careful reading of the exemption clause now raises doubts. This subsection of the House bill pending before the Senate says:

"(E) The provisions of this title shall not apply to a bona fide private club or other establishment not open to the public, except to the extent that the facilities of such establishment are made available to the customers or patrons of an establishment within the scope of subsection (B)."

But an "establishment" is defined under subsection (B) as one "which provides lodging to transient guests" or one "principally engaged in selling food for consumption on the premises." Can private clubs be sure of that, when they furnish such facilities to guests of their members, the "public accommodations" provisions and penalties do not apply?

Many private clubs operate eating places for members and guests and provide rooms for "lodging," as well as such other facilities as barbershops, recreational rooms, massage parlors, and even swimming pools. In the larger cities, some clubs are, for all practical purposes, just like hotels. These are usually organized by alumni of various colleges and universities and are owned by their members. Some of the "exclusive" clubs which are in reality hotels that serve transient guests have been established primarily by business and professional men.

What is meant, moreover, by the words "bona fide private club," or the words "any other establishment open to the public"? There are some hotels in resort areas which function as private clubs because they issue membership cards and require a nominal payment of dues annually. A membership card entitles the holder to send his friends to the hotel as guests.

In a "bona fide private club," there are often restrictions as to the use of lodgings and other facilities. The fact remains, however, that, under the proposed law, the courts will have to decide whether any private club which permits as guests persons of certain races or creeds or national origin to use its lodgings or its restaurants or its barber-shop or its golf course or swimming pool can be compelled to open these facilities to guests of all other races or creeds and irrespective of national origin.

man with the big mentality began to use it to help others. He volunteered for disease experiments, studied clinical laboratory technology, and began to save lives to atone for the one he had taken.

He has long since paid. Leopold has been out of prison since 1958. Over coffee, the two men talked. Leopold buried himself in Castanar to work in the little hospital and help to find a cure for the native hookworm. He felt that nothing mattered except his work, his atonement, the cleansing of bloody hands with acts of mercy.

Three years ago, he fell in love with an American widow. She had a flower shop in Santurce. Nathan Leopold feared to taste happiness. But, by the time Don Murray arrived, the one-time murderer had completed his memoirs, entitled "Life Plus 99 Years." Murray read it, and wanted more than ever to make a motion picture of it.

His motive is simple. Murray is opposed to capital punishment and he can't find a more eloquent argument than Leopold. He wants to write it, produce it, and star in it. When the picture is made, no one can say that Murray and Leopold did not work hard on it, because they spent every day from 1 p. m. until 7 p. m. discussing the past, and present.

Locating Leopold's good works was not easy. To complete the record, Don Murray interviewed citizens and doctors of Castanar and Santurce. One of the small things was a little girl who always held a handkerchief to her face. She was hiding a hare-lip, so that other children would stop making fun of her. Nathan Leopold arranged for the operation, and paid for it out of his small hospital salary. A woman from a slum area had to have most of a small intestine removed, but had no money. Leopold arranged it.

He also found 24 Puerto Rican students who had promise. He sent them through medical school. Once he was walking at night on a jungle road. A woman had fallen. He found her, and discovered that, while waiting to a hospital, she had given birth to a tiny boy.

The woman had a ruptured uterus and was bleeding to death. Leopold somehow managed to save both mother and infant. Perhaps, on that night, he squared accounts with Bobbie Franks. Don Murray asked why he does good acts now instead of bad ones.

"Selfish, I guess," said the dark man. "You do something good, and there is an inner satisfaction that goes with it. My aunt Bessie used to say: 'You can't squirt perfume on someone without getting some on your self.'"

Education Board Holds Discussion Tonight on Wages

A meeting of school administrators and officials in the Kingston School District Consolidated originally scheduled for this afternoon to discuss what transpired at an earlier meeting in connection with the recent off-campus publication of Smock, was held Friday afternoon, it was learned today.

Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, superintendent of schools, stated that Dan H. Allen, principal of Kingston High School, had not arrived at a decision regarding punishment recently imposed on four students involved in the publication.

Two other students, suspended until further notice early last week, were subsequently reinstated.

It was learned that the boys involved in the publication, and their parents, met Friday afternoon with the high school principal, vice principal, representatives of the guidance department and other school officials, to discuss recent action taken by school administrators.

Meanwhile, it was announced Saturday a special meeting of the Kingston Board of Education will be held at 7:30 p. m. today to discuss salaries of all employees in the school system other than teachers. It was reported that John W. Johnson, director of school lunch program, had asked for salary increases for cafeteria staff members. It also was understood custodial employees also have requested increases in pay.

The Board of Education also might discuss at tonight's meeting the publication of Smock, and the action taken by school administrators against six students, including two who later were reinstated.

Deadline Listed For Holy Week, Easter Services

Tuesday 1:30 p. m. is the deadline for all Maundy Thursday and Good Friday church notices. Easter Sunday service deadline is Wednesday 1:30 p. m. for both regular church notices and special sunrise service announcements.

Escapes From Custody Captured at Motel

A Newburgh man, who escaped from custody last Thursday after being sentenced to six months in the Orange County Jail for non-support, was captured early today at an Orange Lake motel, it was learned. A police officer spotted a car last night driven by the man, Joseph Wall, and a chase ensued during which the patrolman fired three shots, one of which is believed to have hit the gasoline tank of the car. Wall eluded arrest near Plattkill and today police checked out a tip and apprehended the fugitive.

Six Grass Fires

Firemen checked six grass fires over the weekend. One Saturday was along the Esopus Creek back of Albany Avenue, and the other was in an area off First Avenue. Sunday calls went to East Union Street near Lansley Avenue, Lawton Park, Ulster Street Extension and First Avenue near Devil's Lake.

application of international law beyond the competence of the courts of the United States in a large and important category of cases.

"No other civilized country has found such a rigid rule necessary for the survival of the executive branch of its government; the executive of no other government seems to require such insulation from international law adjudications in its courts; and no other judiciary is apparently so incompetent to ascertain and apply international law."

Whiteport Home Damaged by Fire

Fire was discovered Saturday evening in the Lydia DeMarco premises at Whiteport by a passerby, who went to the Whiteport Tavern and notified the Bloomington Fire Department. The front of the house was badly involved when the fire was discovered. Before the Bloomington firemen brought the fire under control the two-story frame structure had been considerably damaged.

No one was at home at the time the fire was first discovered. Bloomington firemen, under Chief Oscar Hahn, were assisted by the Binnewater Fire Company, which supplied a tanker. Rosendale stood by to cover for the Bloomington Department while it was at the fire.

Cause of the fire is undetermined.

Judge Schwartz Will Retire Next Year

Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz said Saturday he will retire from that post Dec. 31, 1965, after having reached the compulsory retirement age of 70. He will observe his 69th birthday on Thursday.

Judge Schwartz explained that a judge of County Court, unlike a Supreme Court justice, must retire at the end of the year in which he observes his 70th birthday.

Judge Schwartz, a lifelong Republican, will give way to a new GOP candidate for the six-year term in next year's election for the position. The salary is $20,000. At the end of next year, Judge Schwartz will be completing about 19 years of service as county judge. He previously served about a quarter of a century in the district attorney's office, 18 of them as district attorney.

It was reported there is a possibility that Judge Schwartz might volunteer further service on the bench, but only if a law is passed permitting retired county judges to be called upon for duty on special assignments.

Johnson Loudly

"We are going to pass the medical assistance bill for the aged and do so no matter how many months it takes."

The convention will map union goals for this year's contract bargaining.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers had laid down so-called guidelines that wage increases should be geared to a 3.2 per cent annual productivity gain in industry as a whole, with a price cutback being made by industries with profits outstripping productivity increases.

UAW 4.9 Figure

But UAW President Walter P. Reuther told a news conference last Wednesday that the annual productivity gain in the auto industry is 4.9 per cent, instead of 3.2, and that the higher figure would be "a minimum economic goal" for his union this year. Reuther called profits of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler fantastic in the last year. Three-year UAW contracts with the big three of the industry expire Aug. 31.

Leaving It to LBJ

Reuther deftly turned aside Sunday an attempt to put the convention's 3,000 delegates on record as supporting Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

That proposal came from John M. McCarrell, president of Local 544 of Pittsburgh. It came in the wake of Kennedy's acceptance of the UAW's "Social Justice Award," presented posthumously to President John F. Kennedy.

Ruling McCarrell out of order Reuther said: "We could do nothing more damaging to Bob Kennedy than to support him for that office now. Sometimes your best friends can be your worst enemy."

Pointing out that the Democrats will choose their vice presidential candidate in August in the same convention hall, Reuther added: "I'm sure President Johnson will have some say on that."

Reporters counted only six raised hands in opposition to a convention resolution saying that "the single most important civil rights event in 1964 must and will be enactment" by the U.S. Senate of the House-approved civil rights bill.

President Johnson was lauded in another resolution for "his pledge to lead the nation in unconditional war, here and now, on poverty."

Highland Grass Fire

Highland firemen were called out Saturday to extinguish a grass fire off Route 9W south of that community. Volunteers were at the scene about half an hour.

JOSEPH Y. RESNICK

Ulster Democratic

in Ulster County" to make the decision.

In his acceptance speech, Resnick promptly pledged to work "day and night to defeat the Congressman who voted against the tax cut."

Resnick repeatedly charged the present Republican Congressmen with neglecting the interests of the people and the country by voting against the recently enacted tax cut. He said he would work to create more job opportunities and greater recreational facilities in the area.

Would Debate

The Ellenville industrialist identified himself with the goals and purposes of the Kennedy and Johnson administrations and said he would challenge Congressman Wharton to debate such issues as poverty, rural development, urban slum redevelopment, civil rights, unemployment, school drop-outs, medical care for the aged, need for new industry and diminishing farm income.

"The Kennedy and Johnson administrations," he said, "have shown their intense desire to come to grips and to solve these enormous human problems, but effective action to bring a better deal to the American people requires a Congress that is willing to act in a positive manner with a 20th century outlook."

Cites Tax Cut

Resnick charged Congressman Wharton with neglecting the interests of the people and the country by voting against the recently enacted tax cut. Detailing the impact of the tax cut on the American economy, Resnick said "I'm sure the voters will remember that in November."

Mayor Eugene Glusker of Ellenville, who nominated Resnick, said he was a candidate uniquely qualified to serve the varied interests of the area. "He was born and raised on the family farm," Glusker said. "He knew the pains of poverty, he served his country in war time. He obtained a technical education and founded a company which is known around the world and which gives employment to many. As a business man he understands and respects the value of the dollar. He is alert to the problems of this area and is offering nationally recognized ability to solve these problems."

Jack Baglietto of Ellenville was unopposed for re-nomination as state committeeman from Ulster County.

Delegates Named

Named delegates to the Democratic state convention were Ulster County Chairman Aaron E. Klein, who presided at the convention; Mrs. Rose Hogan, James T. McCardie, John J. Schick, Joseph Stoedcker, Charles J. Tiano, George Maestri, Alternates are: Richard H. Davis, Doris B. White, John J. Gaffney, Eugene Glusker, Raymond Burch, Paul B. Quimby, Joseph S. Reid.

Delegates to the judicial convention will be Klein, James H. Betts, Kenneth Blundell, John J. Schick, Vernon Murphy, John J. McCourt, Robert V. Stapleton. Alternates are: Daniel Fochi, Charles Perry, Joseph Forman, Thomas J. Plunket, Hubert A. Richter, George A. Beck, Alfred Hafke.

Tellers for the election were: Peter W. Rakov, Dan Fochi, George A. Beck and Frank Martocci.

Fatal Shooting

flicted gunshot wound. He had been shot in the head with his .38 caliber Colt revolver. Wall said. The sergeant said a bullet was found lodged in the victim's shoe. Two shots had been fired from the weapon, according to Wall, who added there was no apparent motive for the shooting.

No Motive Found

The sergeant said investigation had disclosed no motive for the shooting. He also stated no note was found.

Malcolm X Has Decree for South: Bullets or Ballots

NEW YORK (AP)—Malcolm X, Rebel Black Muslim, leader, told 1,000 cheering Negroes Sunday night that "it's time for you and me to let the government know it's bullets—or bullets."

Speaking at a Harlem rally, he added:

"No more turning the other cheek. No more live like that. There will be non-violence only with those who are not violent with us."

It was Malcolm's first public rally since he bolted March 8 from Elijah Muhammad's Nation of Islam to organize Negroes into a new civil rights movement emphasizing "self-defense."

His first effort, he said, will be a voter registration drive. Negro voters, Malcolm asserted, have the "power to determine who will sit in the White House and who will sit in the doghouse."

But in the Deep South, "in order to start casting ballots, you have to have some bullets," he said.

Young GOP Told Johnson Program Is Major Farce

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Rep. John V. Lindsay, R-N.Y., says President Johnson's program of "War on Poverty" is a "farce." The president is "tinkering" with the problem of poverty," Lindsay said Saturday in a speech to the New York State Young Republicans.

Lindsay, of New York City, also charged that the Johnson administration lacked the capacity to govern and lead the American people.

He cited what he called the administration's ineptness in dealing with French President Charles De Gaulle and problems in Viet Nam and Latin America.

The association's spring meeting ended Sunday after announcing plans to hold its 32nd annual convention May 22-24 in Niagara Falls.

Earlier, at a closed session, the association's board of directors endorsed the election of James Needham as chairman of its Manhattan-Bronx district. Needham, a supporter of Gov.

Complains His Taxes Too Low

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A citizen appeared Friday before the Lansing Tax Board of Review to complain "my taxes are too low." The shocked board adjourned for a coffee break.

The board currently is hearing complaints from local citizens in a recent adjustment of property valuations.

Leroy Neal, a worker at the Fisher Body plant of General Motors, complained his $400 assessment increase wasn't high enough. Some of his neighbors, he said, have been given tax increases ranging from $1,000 to $1,800.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Television hath wrought some remarkable situations in its short existence but none quite as unlikely as one Sunday night.

Mae West, an American institution as enduring, it appears, as Mt. Whitney, turned up playing what amounted to a bit part in a comedy series starring Mr. Ed, CBS' talking horse.

It is very probable that most of Mr. Ed's fans did not find Miss West, blonde, buxom and swathed in white-fox, very funny. Most of his admirers are much too young. It is extremely doubtful, too, that any adult who howls at jokes tailored to a horse who talks, makes telephone calls and watches television horse operas would respond to Miss West's special brand of comedy.

Time has not altered the lady's style or appearance. But she was not permitted to repeat the lines she made famous. Mr. Ed had to say, "Come up and shoe me some time." One of the women regulars said, "Peel me a grape," another nifty that had the older crowd in stitches years ago. Poor Mae's bit line, when asked her recipe for glamor, replied: "Positive thinking and no drinking."

It was pretty disappointing to find that after all these years Mae West was done wrong by a talking horse.

Bob Hope has been acting in a few book comedies in the NBC series on which he acts as host. Although the television woods abound with comedy series in which the same characters turn up — with, alas, many of the same jokes — really funny comedy dramas are even rarer than serious plays.

Hope, unfortunately, has had no better luck. Friday night's program, "Her School for Backsliders," had a plot apparently exhumed from a decently buried B feature of Hollywood's golden days, pepped up by Hope's gag-writers. The result was pretty dreary.

Recommended tonight: "The Outer Limits," ABC, 7:30-8:30 EST, a story in the "Twilight Zone" mood of people trapped in a place where time stands still.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Monday, March 23, the 83rd day of 1964. There are 283 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1775, Patrick Henry made his immortal address with the phrase, "Give me liberty or give me death." He was appealing to the Virginia Provincial Convention for preparedness against a possible struggle with England — at a time when few dared voice thoughts of complete separation.

On this date in 1872, Michigan adopted the first sex equality law in the United States.

In 1901, the Philippines rebel leader Aguinaldo was captured by Gen. Frederick Funston.

In 1909, former President Theodore Roosevelt set off on his scientific expedition to Africa.

In 1918, the Germans began shelling Paris, 76 miles away.

In 1933 Germany's Reichstag granted dictatorial powers to Adolf Hitler.

Ten years ago — Israel announced a boycott of the Mixed Armistice Commission when the commission failed to censure Jordan in a dispute over an attack on an Israeli bus in which 11 persons were killed by machinegun fire.

Five years ago — King Hussein of Jordan arrived in Washington on his trip around the world.

One year ago — Washington was applying strong pressure on Gen. Chung Hee Park, the chief of South Korea's military regime to rescind his decision to reimpose restrictions on all civilian activity.

Nixon on World Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon left Sunday night on a business trip which will take him around the world in three weeks.

Nixon said he will take "a holiday from politics," but "will attempt to see how our foreign policy is operating."

Body Found Near Lake

WILLARD, N.Y. (AP) — The body of Evelyn Gould, a 66-year-old mental patient, who apparently drowned in Seneca Lake, was found Sunday on the shore lake, police said.

The woman had been missing since Saturday from nearby Willard State Hospital, police said.

Charged With Traffic Violation After Crash

A 39-year-old motorist was cited Sunday for failing to keep to the right after his car was involved in a collision with an Adirondack Transit Lines bus on Route 23A, Palenville.

Leeds state troopers reported Frank Marney, of Haines Falls, was summoned to appear at a later date before Justice of the Peace George Carl, Town of Catskill, to face the traffic violation.

According to state police, the bus operated by Kenneth Bushner, 50, of Oneonta, was traveling west on Route 23A and Marney was driving in the opposite direction when the crash occurred. No injuries were reported.

Former Justice Dies

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Former State Supreme Court Justice John Alexander died Saturday at his home in suburban West Charlton. He was 80.

Alexander retired from the bench in 1953 after serving as a Supreme Court justice for 22 years. He was elected to the post in 1931 and was re-elected in 1945.

He was born in Schenectady and was graduated from the former Union Classical Institute and the New York Law School.

First Social Club

North America's first social club, the "Order of the Good Time," was founded in Nova Scotia by explorer Samuel de Champlain shortly after the peninsula was settled in 1605. The club's purpose was to ease the boredom of life in the wilderness.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

FRINGE BENEFITS: President Johnson told members of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department today that he favors legislation to insure labor fringe benefits as part of federal construction work.

Johnson, who is scheduled to address the legislative conference for the labor group Tuesday, said in an advance message: "I can assure you that this bill providing for fringe benefits as part of the prevailing wage on federal construction work has the continuing support of this administration."

MENTOS: A collection of papers and mementos of the late President John F. Kennedy will go on exhibit in 23 American cities.

New Yorkers will see it first. It will open there May 29, which would have been Kennedy's 47th birthday. The schedule for other cities has not been completed.

RED BID: Ernesto (Che) Guevara, Cuban minister of industries, told Americans Sunday via ABC's radio-television program "Issues and Answers" that his country would like to resume relations with the United States on "the basis of principles and total equality."

Cuba looks forward, he said, to expanded trade with France, Britain and Japan to help offset the loss of commerce with the United States.

NO APOLOGY: Secretary of State Dean Rusk says there is no need to apologize to Sens. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, because he never called them quitters for differing with him on foreign policy.

The secretary said his Salt

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly in Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This alkaline (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No stinky, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH today at drug counters everywhere.

Lake City speech last Thursday was not aimed at the senators but at views expressed in mail received at the State Department.

On Friday Morse told the Senate — and Gruening agreed with him in a second speech — that the country "can well afford to get along" without Rusk. Morse accused the secretary of using "McCarthy smear tactics" against opponents of his policies. Gruening agreed and requested an apology.

Unruly Mob Hurts Liz Taylor Trying To Get Close Look

BOSTON (AP) — A press agent for Elizabeth Taylor complained today that the actress was injured by an unruly mob of youths who stormed Logan International Airport and a Boston hotel for a look at her and her actor husband, Richard Burton.

Discussing a jam at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel in which the Burtons were jostled as they pushed their way through the lobby Sunday, John Springer said Mrs. Burton required the attentions of a doctor after the incident.

"She wrenched her back and arm," he said, "and was almost in a state of collapse."

"I've never seen such an uncontrolled reception," he complained. "The Burtons wanted to say hello to their fans, but under these conditions it was impossible."

Hotel manager Daniel Nyboe, who ran interference for the couple to get them inside the hotel, described the experience as "the worst thing I've been through in my life."

By the time they reached the hotel, Burton was in a rage and his wife near hysterics.

The Burtons arrived here with the company of Shakespearean players who will present "Hamlet" at the Shubert Theater, opening Tuesday.

Old Train, New Signals

ATHENS (AP) — The famed Orient and Simplot Express will get new signals this year when the Greek State Railways installs an automatic signaling system along the line between Athens and the Greek frontier. The new system will cost an estimated $550,000.

Police Continue Hunt for Two in Downtown Theft

Police continued investigation of the reported theft of money from an elderly McEntee Street woman by two men who told her they had been ordered to shut off her water service for a half hour last Friday morning.

Some $500 was reported taken from a purse, which had been left on a kitchen table. Police withheld her name because she lives alone.

The men were described as medium height and were 30 years old or more. They had moved about the house considerably, she said, and after they left she found the money missing. She said she had just returned from shopping and had left her pocketbook on the kitchen table.

Police have issued several recent warnings asking local residents not to admit persons into their homes without convincing identification.

Recent complaints noted that groups and individuals active in the city claim they are on various kinds of surveys. Some have presented satisfactory credentials at police headquarters. Others have not, and some carry no valid identification with them.

Family Court Cases

Two boys will be petitioned to Family Court in connection with the smashing of glass in cars parked at Bryant's Service Station on the Ontario Trail. William Bryant, proprietor of the establishment reportedly caught the boys, 8 and 10, and turned them over to state police.

Wiltwyck School Officers Elected

The officers of the General Organization of Wiltwyck School for Boys (Student Council) for the spring term were officially installed Friday by Frederic N. Crabb Sr., administrative coordinator of Public School 615, Manhattan which provides education for boys at the Wiltwyck Institution and Treatment Center, Esopus.

The newly elected officers are: Nathaniel Faber, Class 4, president; Reginald Bren, Class 5, vice president; Albert Hines, Class 7, secretary and Larry Clark of Class 4, treasurer.

Other members of the Student Council are Class 1 representative, Glenn Bryan; Class 2, Henry Alston; Class 3, David Warner; Class 4, Richard Puglia; Class 5, Leslie Code; Class 6, Benjamin Arnold and Class 7, Francisco Sanders.

office, a complaint against use of a premises at 134 Fair Street, owned by Mrs. N. Hoffman, for commercial purposes, and the appeal for a sign by Kingston Plaza Inc.

The latter submits an appeal from a denial of a building permit by the building inspector of a request to erect a sign at Washington Avenue and Taylor Street and near the right-of-way of the mountain branch of the New York Central Railroad.

A road leads into the plaza over the alignment of the former O. & W. Railroad.

Driver Jailed, Loses License For Leaving Scene

Frank DuBois, 44, of 22 Gill Street, charged with leaving the scene of an accident early March 20, was sentenced today in city court, after he pleaded guilty.

Judge Joseph D. Saccoman gave him the choice of paying a $100 fine or spending 30 days in jail, and his license was revoked. He was also given the choice of a $15 fine or 3 days on a charge of speeding dating back to last year, and which remained pending while DuBois was in a veterans' hospital. The fines were not paid.

Police said a car driven by DuBois had struck a pole early Friday on Broadway near the entrance to the high school. He was treated for injuries at Kingston Hospital.

Charge Dismissed
A malicious mischief charge lodged against Mosley Harrell, 27, of 57 VanBuren Street, was dismissed, and hearing of a third degree assault charge was put over to Tuesday to permit him time to obtain counsel. He was booked on the charges after police were called to lower Broadway. Officers Curtis Vandemark and Weston Hoffay were dispatched there.

The mischief charge was lodged by Nathan Armstrong, of Emerick Street, and the assault charge by Bernice Watson, of 2 Post Street.

Hearing Adjourned
Donald Kidney, 22, of 112 Spring Street, was charged with third degree assault Sunday night by his wife, Marion. City court hearing today was put over to Tuesday to permit him time to obtain counsel. Bail of $100 was not immediately posted.

Two Drivers Are Booked on Drunk Driving Charges

Two drivers were booked on charges after two weekend traffic mishaps.

William P. Barry, 56, of 41 Staples Street, charged with driving while intoxicated Saturday night, pleaded innocent today in city court and hearing was put over to March 30. Attorney Aaron E. Klein appeared with him before Judge Joseph D. Saccoman.

John Elgo, 40, of 594 Broadway, charged with a stop-sign violation, after an uptown mishap, is due in court March 27.

Gerard Bligh, 47, of West Hurley, was charged with driving while intoxicated and passing a red light early Sunday. He was not involved in an accident. A report at 3 a. m. Sunday said he was stopped at Fair and Pearl streets by officers Weston Hoffay and Curtis Vandemark. Hearing was put over to March 28.

Police allege that the sedan of Barry struck a car owned by Clarence Henry Dahl, of 100 Hunter Street, while it was parked near that address shortly after 9 p. m. Saturday. Officers Leon Fitzgerald and George Barringer investigated. Barry was paroled in his own custody.

The stop-sign charge was lodged against Elgo after a two-car mishap at Main and Emerson Street, reported at 6:20 p. m. Sunday.

Police said the Elgo sedan was headed out of Emerson Street and the car of William J. Ryan, 37, of 19 Johnston Avenue, was moving over Main Street. Officer Sheldon O'Rourke investigated.

Scientists Find

many years, "but it was overlooked by practically every allergist in the world as a possible cause for asthma."

Scientists at National Jewish discovered almost accidentally the connection between the mold and asthma — a respiratory disease. There are about four million asthma sufferers in the United States.

Itkin said that an Israeli patient was brought to the hospital suffering from asthma of an apparently unknown organ. About the same time Itkin had learned that the incidence of the mold was very high in Israel. Itkin tested the patient with an extract of the mold and found that it produced a severe allergic reaction.

During a study program that followed, 81 patients were tested with the same extract. The results, Itkin said, proved that sensitivity to the mold was a frequent cause of asthma.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market's retreat from record highs continued in moderately active trading early this afternoon but airlines and some lower-priced issues advanced against the downtrend.

Gains and losses of most key stocks went mostly from fractions to around a point.

The business and economic news background continued cheerful but profit taking seemed in order following the prolonged week-to-week advance to historic peaks.

Steels, motors, rails, rubbers and some metals were the losers. Oils, mail order-retailers, farm implements were fairly steady. Tobaccos, building materials, drugs and aerospace issues were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 5.9 at 301.2 with industrials off 9.9, rails off 4.4 and utilities off 1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.15 at 813.78.

An accumulation of buy orders also delayed the opening of Western Air Lines which started at 3 points. The airline group showed renewed strength as bullish reports about the industry continued to have their effect.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed in moderate trading.

Utica — Gerardo DePiro, 69, Utica, hit by a car on a city street Sunday.

Weekend Deaths In State Total 24; 17 on Roads

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A cigarette, a falling tree and two driverless motor vehicles—these were among the factors in some of the fatal accidents which claimed a total of 24 lives over the weekend in New York State.

The death toll on the highway reached 17. Three persons perished in fires and four others died in other kinds of accidents. The count began at 6 p. m. Friday and ended at Sunday midnight.

The largest single loss of lives occurred near East Concord, Erie County where two automobiles collided Friday.

Dead in the crash were Nelson Priel, 43, of Springfield, Louis E. Rumpf, 63, and Charles Harbison, 13, both of East Concord. Ellen Kollarz, 12, of Westfalls, died Saturday night in a Buffalo hospital of injuries suffered in the accident.

In another Friday night mishap, Matilda Coleman, 63, of New York, lost her life when a fire, believed started by a cigarette in a chair, swept her Manhattan apartment.

At Bernhards Bay, Winn L. Cook, 72, died Sunday after being struck by a falling tree. Cook had been cutting timber. Elsewhere, two men were killed when struck by unoccupied motor vehicles. Max Ruge, 61, of Queens, was crushed Saturday when a New York City sanitation truck on which he was working backed over him. In Cocksackie, Vincent F. Kurner, 46, of Cocksackie was washing his car Sunday when it started rolling, knocked him down and dragged him 50 feet.

Other deaths, by community, included:

New York — Mrs. Gertrude Skidmore, 22, struck by a car Friday night while trying to start a motor scooter.

Greenwood — Patti Jack, 8, Greenwood; car in which she was riding struck a bridge railing Friday night.

Palmyra — Harold C. LeFever, 32, Palmyra, car hit a tree Friday night.

Dunkirk — Daniel Szocki, 39, Dunkirk; two-car collision Saturday.

Port Chester — Geraldine Chismadia, 18, Port Chester, car in which she was riding left the highway and struck a tree.

Buffalo — Timothy Hapeman, 3; fire in his home Saturday.

Mastic — Theodore Carlson, 68, Brooklyn, drowned Saturday when he fell from a boat on Great South Bay.

Edmeston — Artie Owen Jr., 16, Garrettsville and David Miller, 17, of Edmeston; car missed a turn Saturday night and struck a barn.

Clarkston — Conner H. Burnett, 47, Albion; two-car collision Sunday.

Utica — Gerardo DePiro, 69, Utica, hit by a car on a city street Sunday.

Survival

hours later Van deBogert and Walker, following the boys' tracks, found the camp and brought them out to the nearest farm house.

Assistant Fire Chief Granville Scotty Myer of Centerville Fire Company had a personal interest in the search. His boy was among the missing scouts. He said the boys had only a parka and one blanket to keep covered. Harvey Ostrander of Willow and Arthur Downs of Hurley brought in bulldozers to cut a path through the snow on the wood road to the Mead Mountain house area and the fire watch tower at the overlook peak. Several four-wheel drive vehicles including Scouts and Jeeps followed the bulldozers up the mountain trail.

A Kingston Department of Public Works portable generator was also brought up to provide power for lighting.

Vois Join Hunt

Assistant Fire Chief Myer said among the searchers were about 40 or 50 volunteer firemen from Kingston and Cedar Grove Companies.

He said the fire department was grateful for the response to the search call, and also for the auxiliary groups and the Red Cross which provided sandwiches and coffee throughout the search. Centerville Fire Company Auxiliary sent up sandwiches and coffee at regular intervals. Three volunteers from Kingston Chapter, American Red Cross also served at the scene.

Myer said one of the searchers left a wristwatch with Charles Sherwood of Blue Mountain, president of the fire company, and Van deBogert has a jacket lost by one of the searchers.

Stocks Provide Anchor With Job in Jeopardy

Q) "My job has become very shaky of late, and I'm getting concerned over my investment position. I have a lot of my money tied up in six stocks: American Telephone, Crown Zellerbach, General Telephone, Pacific Gas & Electric, Southern Pacific, and Western Bancorp. Most of these issues were left to me by a relative, and I'm wondering whether any of them should be eliminated from my list. I've got a fairly large sum set aside in my savings account."—C.M.

A) Since it may help your morale — which can probably stand a boost right now — I'm especially pleased to report to you that all of your stocks are good ones.

There is no better conservative holding than American Telephone, which is a fine anchor for any portfolio.

targets were the civil rights bill, Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. of Atlanta, Police Chief Herbert T. Jenkins and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

White persons predominated but Jeremiah X, leader of the Atlanta Black Muslim movement and members of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee also were present.

Craig, acknowledging the presence of Jeremiah X and an aide, said: "I have more respect for Jeremiah than I do for the mayor of Atlanta. I'd rather have the two Negroes than two scalawags from the mayor's office."

The only incident occurred when a white youth who accompanied two Negroes was struck in the back by a robed klanman. Police were out in force, but devoted most of their effort to directing traffic around Hurt Park.

Good Friday Will

Barber shops will close between noon and 3 p. m.

Banks will remain open as usual and county offices will remain open. The Internal Revenue Department, which is open Mondays and Fridays for assisting persons in making out income tax returns, will remain open throughout the usual hours.

Beginning at noon and until 3 p. m. services will be held at the Fair Street Reformed Church at which time ministers of various churches in the city will participate in the annual service of the Seven Last Words. The public may come and go as desired, or remain for the entire service.

Kingston public schools will close for the Easter holiday season Wednesday after completion of the day schedule and will re-open on Monday, April 6, at the usual time.

GOVERNMENT: BIG BUSINESS

The biggest business in the world is that of the United States Government. Uncle Sam is uncle to 190,000,000 Americans. His fiscal policies affect directly or indirectly the economic lives of every last person here.

On February 20, 1964, his gross public debt was $309,336,000,000. Paying the interest on that and arranging for new financing on maturing bond issues is a gigantic task. And the biggest job of all is that of raising around $100,000,000,000 a year to pay expenses.

Every investor in this country is deeply involved in this serious business. Half of the time in the Congress of the United States is taken up with laws and rules having to do with the necessity of promoting prosperity.

Congress, the Federal Reserve Board and its 12 Reserve Banks, the President and members of his Cabinet are responsible to a greater or lesser degree for establishing policies that will keep this great country on an even economical keel.

Whether an investor has a thousand or a million dollars, he should understand how absolutely essential it is to have prosperity here. Without good times, how can the 309 billion dollar debt be satisfactorily serviced and $100 billion yearly budgets be met.

Personally, week in and week out, I clip from the newspapers congressional action tending to promote prosperity.

If American does not enjoy a measure of economic well-being in a sound way, measure will be introduced in Congress to bring this about in an artificial manner.

Right now, the statesmen in Congress are battling over credit and money supplies. Some want to curb the credit and money supplies. Others want to do the very opposite.

Some want to set up wage-price barriers and to give the government political powers over these basic forces. Others, detesting such controls, are vehemently opposed to such action.

Now with all this turmoil going on, millions of investors with billions of dollars are sitting on the sidelines wondering what to do. I hear from 100 of them every week.

Even in these times, an investor must have a well-thought-through policy. If anybody waits for clear skies, money will remain idle. I am asked continually: "I have $1,000, $5,000, $50,000, $100,000 to invest. What should I buy, if anything?"

Well, economic America is going to grow prodigiously in the years ahead. And if Uncle Sam is to collect enough tax money to pay his bills, individuals and corporations will have to make money.

Personally, with the Dow-Jones Industrial Averages around 800, I shall not worry about my investment stocks if the averages should fall to 700 and I wouldn't sell them if they went to 1,000. Don't let confusion govern your investment decisions.

Marries Ex-Mate

HONOLULU (AP) — Lee Quinn, the seafaring stevedore with a fondness for all-girl crews, married his former first mate Friday.

Less than 24 hours after the wedding, Quinn left by plane for Tahiti, where he is planning a cruise to New Zealand and Australia with a four-girl crew.

Mrs. Quinn, the former Beatrice Berkson, was scheduled to fly today to the West Coast. She plans to join her husband in Australia in several weeks.

It was the second marriage for both newlyweds.

Gov. Scranton Forces High in Calif. Poll

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If opinions of California Republican collegians are heeded, Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania should prepare to plunge into the 1964 presidential race.

Scranton came from a dark horse position Sunday to win a third ballot nomination at a mock national Republican convention staged by the California College Republicans.

The group, which split last year from the more conservative California Young Republicans, deadlocked on the first two ballots among Sen. Barry Goldwater, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

69 County Farms To Take Part in '64 Grain Event

Sixty-nine farms in Ulster County had been signed up for as of March 19 for participation in the 1964 Feed Grain Program, Joseph Sauer, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County committee, has announced.

County farms eligible to take part in the program total 264.

Eligible farms are those which grew one or more of three feed grains — corn, grain sorghum, or barley — during the program's base years 1959 and 1960. Feed grain acreage signed up for division through the program now totals 1,188 acres. Feed grain base acreages of these participating farms amount to 1,961 acres.

Based on farmers' intentions, as recorded at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Office, these producers will earn an estimated $44,544, in diversion payments for participating in the feed grain program this year.

Throughout the Nation, 543,534 farms of the total 3,196,992 "eligible" farms had been signed up to take part in the program as of March 6, 1964. Acreage signed up for diversion totaled 13.7 million acres, including 10.2 million acres of corn, 2.3 million acres of grain sorghum, and almost 1 million acres of barley. The chairman points out that the 1964 feed grain program of fers farmers an opportunity to continue the progress of the past 2 years in balancing supplies with estimated needs. At the same time, the program payments give participants a substantial return from their acreage in which they usually have a heavy investment.

Under the program, a grower who reduces his feed grain acreage (of corn, grain sorghum, and barley) by at least 20 per cent of his farm's total base acreage will earn a diversion payment for shifting the acreage from production to a conserving use. (Payments for 1964 will average higher than last year and the maximum diversion is higher.) The participating grower will also qualify for a price-support payment on his normal production of the 1964 planted acreage of the three crops, and for loans or purchase agreements on all the corn, grain sorghum, and barley produced on the farm's 1964 acreage.

Sauer reminds farmers that the program sign-up is now under way at the County Office and will extend through March 27. He urges an early sign-up as the best way to avoid the delays and crowded office conditions which could develop as the deadline nears.

Vic Huggins, chairman of the tournament committee for the Mid-South Regional which will be held in Durham, N. C., April 8-12, writes: "We are going all out to have one of the finest Regional tournaments ever held."

Judging from my previous experience in the Carolinas, nothing can be much finer than a tournament there. I am looking forward to a wonderful time.

Vic also sent today's hand with these comments: "When my partner took off for the stratosphere, I regretted my 11-point opening. When East doubled the final contract of six spades, I regretted it still more."

"West opened the deuce of clubs. He assumed that East had doubled for a club lead and would be able to ruff. I assumed the same and finessed. When my eight spot won the trick, I led a spade toward dummy. When West showed out, I rose with dummy's king, led three rounds of hearts in order to get rid of dummy's king of diamonds, and then led a low spade to dummy's ten."

"East took that trick, but that was all."

It was certainly quite a slam to bring home. When I get to Durham I am going to remember not to double Vic Huggins.

List Army Exams For Area Youths

Special processing facilities for high school seniors, male and female, will be established during the Easter vacation period. It was announced today by SFC Edward Malenski local Army recruiter. It will allow the seniors to take a series of examinations now to determine their qualifications for a three year Army enlistment, with the field of their choice guaranteed, after June graduation.

SFC Malenski said that the idea behind the program is to allow the senior off-school time to take the mental and physical examinations required for entry into the service, and then reserve the school of his choice until he begins his active duty after graduation. The sergeant pointed out that there is no obligation until enlistment.

The local recruiter explained that under the vacation-exam plan, the qualified high school student can be assured an assignment for the school or overseas area of his choice. "This is not a verbal promise," the sergeant asserted. "We will guarantee the assignment in writing to a man or woman who is good enough to get in; and a reservation will be made in the student's name at Department of Army headquarters in Washington."

All high school seniors interested in obtaining further information may contact SFS Malenski at the Central Post Office, Kingston.

Dear Abby . . .

But Not Biology!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I beg to inform you that the female parakeet does not talk. Only the male can be taught to talk. It is the same with canaries. The female canary will give out with an occasional chirp, but only the male canary will burst forth into song. If it will make you feel better, Abby, the female of the feathered family is more beautiful. But let's be honest, she contributes nothing and is strictly ornamental.

KNOWS HIS BIRDS

DEAR KNOWS: Is that so? The rooster does the crowing, but it's the hen which lays the eggs.

DEAR ABBY: I recently visited a young dentist who was recommended to me by a friend. When I got into the chair, rock and roll music started playing right in my ear. I am a matron, 58, and I never listen to that kind of music at home as it is nerve-racking. I enjoy soft, semi-classical music, however. I debated whether I should ask the dentist to shut it off, but decided not to say anything. Then the dentist started HUMMING along with the music! I didn't want to upset him while he was working on my teeth, so I kept silent. I wish there were some way to let him know why I never went back to him, although he was a good dentist.

FAITHFUL READER

DEAR FAITHFUL: Let me help: Confidential to all dentists who use music: Ask your patients if they want music and, if so, if they have a preference. P.S.: It's all right to whistle while you work—but don't hum.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been divorced from his first wife for twelve years, and married to me for ten. She has never remarried. She still calls him on the phone, but never at home, only at his office. I know this because I have been at his office when she's called. She claims she wants nothing from him, and only calls to give him news and health reports on their daughter. This daughter is 24, married, in good health, and is able to take care of herself. I don't trust this "ex." What do you think she really wants? I am just about ready to let her have it. (Right between the eyes!) But I don't know that is what she has in mind, do you?

JOHN'S OTHER WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Hardly. But she could probably use something between the ears. Your husband can't help it if she calls him, but you might ask him how often she calls. If she overdoes it, it is up to HIM to straighten her out.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DOUBLE A": Let your 22-year-old son find his own job. You are protecting him from the same hard knocks that made a man out of you.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Movie Stars Have Smoking Problem After SG Reports

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How goes it with the American smoker 10 weeks after the Surgeon General's report?

If you judged from a cross-section of Hollywood smokers, not much change has been wrought. To a number of movie personalities I put the question: How are you coming along with your anti-smoking resolutions, if any?

Here are their replies: David Janssen: "I quit smoking once and gained 25 pounds. I don't know what caused it, a change of metabolism or increase of appetite. Anyway, I don't want to risk that again."

Anne Bancroft: "I find I'm smoking more than ever. I understand the same thing happened to people in England after they were warned about smoking; it just made them more nervous and eager to smoke."

Tony Randall: "Smoking is not a problem with me. I gave it up after I got out of the Army. My problem is getting my wife to quit. I have told her she can smoke only in the bathroom at home. So now she goes to the bathroom much more frequently than a normal human would go. One day she got mad at me and said, 'I'm going to smoke in your bathroom!'"

Donald O'Connor: "I was going to quit, but then I had a television show to do. I was afraid if I gave up smoking it might throw me off my timing. I'll quit next Tuesday."

Peter Lorre: "No, I haven't stopped at all. I figure you get as much damage driving behind a bus as you do from smoking."

Anne Baxter: "I haven't quit, and I know I've got to. I realize I don't smoke a cigarette; it smokes me."

Sean Connery: "I gave up cigarettes some time ago. I've been smoking five or six cigars a day and inhaling. I decided to give them up, not because of the report but because I wasn't feeling up to par. You know something? I don't feel any better."

Rock Hudson: "I can't quit smoking when I'm working. Too nervous. But I have cut down to four or five a day when I'm not working." Quit entirely? I tried it for a month one time and gained 20 pounds.

Life Insurance
Queries, Answers

As a public service in cooperation with the Eastern New York Chapter of the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters, the following questions and answers on life insurance are presented:

Question—I just gave up trying to read and "decode" my new life insurance policy. I counted the words, though, and there were 7,200—most of which were past my understanding. Why can't they make these things understandable? I don't really know what I have.

Answer—This is a problem that has been perplexing life insurance companies for years. They have had actuaries and lawyers at work steadily, trying to find some means of abbreviating and simplifying this important document. But life insurance is a long term contract, involving many people, many contingencies and many years of exposure. Not one of those now living and party to the contract may be alive when the contract is called into action to meet its obligations. Therefore, the language used must be so clearly and legally defined as to avoid any misinterpretation or misunderstanding, even if handled by total strangers. What is more, the language must conform to a broad range of court decisions, built up over two centuries of development, in both the courts of the 50 states and the Federal courts. This is why it is necessary to lean towards what seems to be legalistic language and why so many words must be used. It is in your interests—yours as a policyholder or beneficiary or both. Continuous efforts over the years towards simplification have brought some improvement. Some contracts are down to 3,500 or 4,000 words. Time may reduce this further. But meantime you should understand your policy and know what you have. Ask your agent for a detailed explanation. This is his responsibility and he would be pleased to do this.

Famed Birdman
Wants His Estate
To Improve Jails

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Convict Robert Stroud, famed as the Birdman of Alcatraz, said in his will that today's prisons are a disgrace and that he wants his estate used to design a better one.

Stroud, whose will was filed for probate Friday, died last Nov. 21 in the Springfield, Mo., federal prison at the age of 73. He had spent most of his adult life in prisons after conviction for two murders.

He became an expert on birds and bird diseases while in solitary confinement and gained fame from the book "Birdman of Alcatraz," written by Thomas E. Gaddis. A movie also was made, based on Stroud's prison life.

Stroud's estate consists of a $447.84 uncashed check and a 40 per cent interest in royalties from the book "Birdman of Alcatraz."

He left everything to his sister, Mrs. Mamie Stroud Shaffer, 80, of Metropolis, Ill. But the will said his sister's needs are not great and that if his estate could be used to design a better prison, that's what he'd like done with it.

Inoperable Lung Cancer Victims Promised Hope

By FRANK CAREY

Associated Press Science Writer

PALM BEACH SHORES, Fla.

(AP)—New evidence was reported today that medicine's heavy artillery against cancer—super-voltage radiation—can help certain victims of inoperable lung cancer cheat death for years beyond the usual expectancy.

Dr. Ruth Guttman of Columbia University told about it in a report to the sixth annual seminar for science writers, sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

She said that at present many surgeons and radiologists do not offer their lung-cancer patients any treatment at all after an exploratory operation shows cure is impossible and if the patients are free of symptoms for the time being.

But new studies of her own indicate, she said, "that it might be worthwhile to revise this attitude."

Describing use of high doses of supervoltage X-ray in 82 patients who had undergone an exploratory operation and were found to be inoperable, she said 58.5 per cent survived more than a year. She added that in appreciable numbers survival ranged as high as eight years, with eight patients still alive between three and eight years after the completion of treatment.

The average survival time so far has been 21 months—compared with 10 weeks to 6 months for patients who received no treatment, the scientist said.

Dr. Guttman also said that the large majority of the patients showed "subjective improvement"—that is, freedom from such things as pain and cough.

Even in another group of 150 patients who were so obviously incurable that no exploratory operation was done, the super X-ray treatment helped, she said.

Forty per cent of this latter group survived for one year; 13 per cent for two years; 7 per cent for three years; 5 per cent for four years; and 2.5 per cent for five years or more.

The treatment employed in both groups consisted of 5,000 to 6,000 "rads" of radiation delivered over five to six weeks with a two million volt X-ray unit.

Speaking of the results in the group of 82 patients, the doctor said: "It cannot be conceived that such beneficial results can be achieved when the tumor is permitted to grow and spread after an unsuccessful exploration, and it is urged (upon doctors) to offer well-planned radiotherapy immediately after the exploratory (operation)."

Ulster Library Lists New Books

The Town of Ulster Library will be closed on Good Friday, March 27, Saturday, March 28 and Saturday, April 4. Regular hours will be observed other days during the Easter school recess.

Mrs. John Burger, librarian, and Mrs. O. L. Sande, trustee of the library recently attended a workshop on library activities in Poughkeepsie. The session was conducted by the Mid-Hudson Libraries, and was well attended and proved informative and enjoyable for representatives from the Town of Ulster.

New books acquired by the library:

Adult—non fiction—Herbert H. Lehman and His Era by Allan Nevins; The Three Lives of Helen Keller by Richard Harriott and Ralph Martin; Yankee in the White House (John Quincy Adams) by Mary Hoehling; The Rise and Decline of the Spanish Empire by Irwin Blacker; The Great Hunger (The potato famine in Ireland 1845-1849) by Cecil Smith; The Dead Sea Scrolls by Millar Burrows.

Kingston Hadassah Will Host Conference On May 4-6; Advisor Will Be Mrs. Perlman

The Kingston Chapter of Hadassah will be hostess group for the annual spring conference of the Lower New York State Region of Hadassah, to be held May 4-6 at the Pinegrove Hotel, Kerhonkson.

Mrs. Robert S. Yallum and Mrs. Sidney Halpern have been named conference chairmen by Mrs. Arthur Landesman, president of the local chapter.

National advisor for the conference will be Mrs. Nathan Perlman. Hadassah's national membership chairman who recently completed service as chairman of Hadassah Medical Organization. She will address the opening-night banquet on Monday, May 4.

As national HMO chairman Mrs. Perlman headed Hadassah's largest and most vital project in Israel, HMO, now operating from the Hadassah-Brewer University Medical Center. In the summer of 1962 she visited Africa, the first Hadassah official to observe the work of Hadassah medical teams in Liberia.

Mrs. Perlman has served as president of the New York Chapter of Hadassah, national American Affairs chairman, national Vocational Education chairman, convention chairman and delegate to several World Zionist Congresses.

Active in the field of social welfare, she has served on the board of visitors of the New York State Training School for Girls, Hudson, and as a member of the New York City council of the State Commission for Human Rights. She managed her husband's political campaigns for Congress, the state Supreme Court and attorney-general of New York; before his death he served as a distinguished judge of the Court of Special Sessions in New York.

Hadassah remains Mrs. Perlman's favorite field of activity, and Hadassah audiences throughout the country know her as a woman of charm, enthusiasm and ability, deeply dedicated to Israel's cause.

All Hadassah members and interested guests are eligible to attend any of the conference

SAUGERTIES NEWS Centerville Vols End Week With Search and Three Fires

Members of Centerville Fire Department completed a busy four days with a weekend search for six Boy Scouts, two brush fires and a house fire in Cedar Grove.

The role played by the firemen in the search for the six Boy Scouts in the troop the firemen sponsor is documented in an account on Page One.

Home Unoccupied

A new unoccupied Swiss chalet type home off Route 32 in Cedar Grove was saved early Sunday morning because firemen were on standby at Centerville and Cedar Grove firehouses and at Saxton Firehouse of the Saxton Fire Company during the search for the scouts.

Trucks rolled from all three companies as soon as the alarm was sounded.

A neighbor in the Katsbaan area, identified as Bruce Dederick, reportedly saw the flames from the new home nestled in small grove of trees on the hillside, and sent in the alarm.

Sgt. Henry S. Rhodes of Kingston state police confirmed today that Centerville fire officials had asked that the origin of the fire be investigated due to the unusual circumstances surrounding the incident.

Assistant Chief Granville Scotty Myer of the Centerville vols said firemen from the three companies contained the blaze to the northwest wall of the wooden frame structure owned by Allen Berzal of Saugerties.

Started in Wood Pile

The fire apparently started in a pile of wood, part of the construction material stored next to the home on the northwest wall.

Assistant Chief Myer said. Some damage was apparent at the plate which lays on the foundation and the siding, he said. The alarm was sounded at 4:30 a. m. Chief Robert Thein was in charge of the equipment at the scene.

During Saturday afternoon Centerville firemen responded to two brush fires. Both Centerville trucks responded at 4 p. m. to extinguish a huge pile of brush on the Warren Gillman property off the Blue Mountain-West Saugerties Road.

Earlier at 2 p. m., one Centerville pumper responded to a brush fire which threatened the house on the John Herr property along the Fish Creek Road. Equipment was in charge of Chief Thein at both fires.

The series of alarms started Thursday when Centerville vols responded to two brush fires, one along the Thruway and another at Pine Grove, and an oil burner fire at the John Wams home at Blue Mountain.

Nominating Unit Of Columbiettes Listed for Vote

A nominating committee for the election of officers of Saugerties Council Columbiettes 4336 to be held in May was announced this week by Mrs. Jeanette Curry, president.

Mrs. Eleanor Naccarato will serve as chairman of the committee which includes Mrs. Marie Sheehan, Mrs. Mary Jobst, Pauline Wolfe and Betty Rafferty.

The nominating committee will present the slate of officers at the next regular meeting on April 8. Nominations will still be accepted from the floor. Voting will take place at the May meeting.

All donations for the New York State Blind Project are to be returned not later than April 8 to Chairman Mary Campochiaro. The chairman has the envelopes for all those who did not receive theirs to date.

More drivers are needed to drive the children to the Cerebral Palsy clinic. Volunteers may give names to Mrs. Curry. Coordinator Joseph Le Houd will accept names of all Columbiettes who are willing to give blood to help the K of C Blood Bank. The K of C Blood Bank is in need of many volunteers. A dinner is planned for all those who volunteer.

For bus ride to World's Fair May 2 contact Tessie Mayone at RFD 4, Box 244, Saugerties. This trip is sponsored by Mrs. Mayone.

Completes Training

Army Pvt. Donald L. Myer, son of Mrs. Elinor L. Myer, Route 3, Saugerties, completed eight weeks of advanced combat training as an automatic rifleman at Fort Hood, Tex., March 5.

Myer, assigned to Company C, 1st Battalion of the 1st Armored Division's 46th Infantry, entered the Army in October 1963 and completed basic training at Fort Dix, N. J.

The 18-year-old soldier attended Saugerties High School.

What to Do When Entertained by Husband's Business Associates

Q: Recently I accompanied my husband on a business trip. Some of my husband's business associates and their wives went all out to entertain us. Is there anything I am expected to do now that we are back home, to show our appreciation? Should I write notes or perhaps send them small gifts?

A: Your thanks at the time is all that is expected of you. If at some future time you can return their kindnesses when they visit your city, you will of course do so.

Waiting for Late Dinner Guest

Q: You said a hostess is not expected to wait longer than 15 minutes for a late dinner guest as it is not fair to her other guests. Does this apply when the late-comer is the only guest?

A: In the case of a single guest the family should wait somewhat longer than the conventional 15 minutes and then try to find out whether the guest is on her way, whether something has prevented her coming or whether she has forgotten the engagement. In other words, they should wait until they are reasonably sure she is not coming.

Surprise Party for a Fiance

Q: My fiance had a birthday last week and I gave a surprise party for him at my house. I did not invite his mother and father and I understand they are very much put out and feel slighted. Was I wrong?

A: Not if the party was strictly for those of your age. But if your parents and any of their friends were at the party, you should have invited his parents as well.

The clothes of the bride and groom's parents as well as those of the wedding guests are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Correct Clothes for a Wedding Reception." DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Every winter has the "storm of the season" and in 1964, it came on the 10 and 11 of March. Folks years ago would not have been disturbed by this ice storm, for it would have not had any effect on their coal and wood heating system, nor their kerosene lamps or candles. Food was usually kept in a good cellar, and the wood and coal perhaps in the woodshed. In years to come, came the kerosene and gas ranges. Those who heat water and cook by tank gas did not suffer, but those most modern homes, which are controlled completely by electricity sat and froze, while their food in refrigerators unfroze. Nature wins again, as this storm of storms scattered broken limbs in a wide area, breaking telephone communications with some 1500 homes. Many householders were thrown in a panic, with no outside communication, no telephones, no radio, no TV, not even a candle. A March to remember.

Louis Simon of 112 Hone Street gave me an illustrated article by Sidney Fields from one of the New York newspapers. It is about a former Kingston man, Irving Jacobson whose family used to live at 31 Mary's Avenue. He is a brother to Mrs. Joe Gruber of 57 Washington Avenue. He has been the dispatcher and tower man all up and down the line of the Grand Central Terminal, at Tower U for some 40 years, which covers some 448 trains coming in and out of the terminal every 24 hours, and taking care of some 150,000 people. Irving Jacobson, now 65, is the director, and with him is a telegrapher, and two lever men. His family wants him to retire, and enjoy his two daughters and six grandchildren for whom he often baby sits. Sometimes he sets up toy trains for the kids, and also plays with them, he says.

His job calls for his being at his Grand Central Terminal Tower U at 7:25 a. m. and leaves at 3:25 p. m. Those who sit in quiet offices where nothing happens and only wait and look at the clock for the time to go home, would not fancy his job, for during the frantic rush between 7:30 and 9 a. m. one train comes in every 90 seconds, and two others can be going out at the same time, writes Sidney Fields. Each train requires an individual signal, automation has not reached that stage yet. During this rush, not a word or motion can be wasted. On one shift Irving Jacobson, former Kingstonian, is responsible for about 120 train movements. "Plus about 10 or 15 side moves," he added, and that's what he thinks has turned his hair white.

Louis Simon, says he thinks Mr. Jacobson, was a telegrapher here in the Strand office, which I think was run by the Winter's family many years ago. They describe that excitement at Tower U, that as soon as the telegrapher announces the incoming train, Jacobson quickly toggles one of the little switches on the communications panel board in front of him, which immediately lights up a switch on a similar board in the other towers. "So they know right away what the train is and where I'm going to put it," Jacobson explained. At the very same instant, he sings out the order to the lever men, who repeat it clearly, so there is no mistake what Jacobson means and pulls the levers to complete the move. There are 93 levers, Frank Ward explained. "The black-handled ones throw the switch on the tracks. The red ones light up the track signals, yellow for go, and red for stop." Kingstonians who come or go on trains from Grand Central will be interested no doubt, knowing that one of the boys from their own hometown is at the controls.

Nearly a fifth of the U.S. population one year and over moved between April 1961 and April 1962, according to the Census Bureau.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Spring fever will clash with tax fever this year.

Businessmen are counting on consumers being anything but sluggish this spring, thanks to larger take-home pay. So, many industries are raising their goals for production and sales, with an eye on reaping the benefits they see in the federal income tax cut. Factory activity and retail promotion should be increased.

Watching Tax Fever

And a number of companies are jumping on the tax cut bandwagon with announcements of expansion plans that would furnish more jobs. Spring fever will be hard put to compete with such optimistic fervor.

Investment bankers, securities dealers and some state legislatures are watching the tax fever, too. Dealers in government and corporate bonds know that the federal government will be running a big deficit this year and have to borrow more, thanks in part to smaller tax collections. In the spring months the deficit will be the product of the 1964 spending budget.

Will Face Deficit

Next fall when tax collections will be slowest, there will be the 1965 fiscal year's budget deficit, heralded as being smaller than the last one, but still requiring the Treasury to borrow more money, unless tax returns build up faster than now expected.

Corporations planning to raise outside funds to finance their expansion plans may be coming into the securities market at the same time. Together federal government and corporate borrowing could be considerable and have a noticeable effect on money market conditions and rates. State and local government borrowing tends to rise each year. If a housing boom adds to the demand for mortgages, the pressure will be that much the greater.

18 State Study Changes

Tax fever takes another form in many state legislatures. At least 18 states have already passed or are considering some 60 tax changes this year. Unlike Congress, the state law making bodies' ideas are mostly for increases rather than cuts.

Of course, spring fever might just win out for a time with

'Can't Sell Corpse'

BRUSSELS (AP)—The prosecutor's office Friday overruled two policemen who had stopped an art gallery from selling a 3,000-year-old Egyptian mummy because "you can't sell a corpse."

An office spokesman told the protesting gallery director that mummies could legally be sold as works of art and the policemen had shown "too much zeal."

Rec Cage League

Rhinebeck Wins, 88-60, Clinches 1st Place Tie

Rhinebeck clinched a tie for the Rec Basketball league championship with an 88-60 win over Sportsman Park Sunday at the Municipal Auditorium.

In the other attraction, Byrne Chevrolet coasted to an 84-61 triumph over Carroll's Bait Box.

Ray's Tackle Shop, defending champion, will play Carroll's next Sunday. If the Tackle Shop wins, it will deadlock Rhinebeck for top spot and a playoff game will decide the regular season winner.

John White, Ron Miller and Joe Molinaro were in double figures for Rhinebeck. Joe Uhl rimmed 21 points for the Sportsman.

The winners had quarter margins of 19-14, 38-27 and 56-42. Joe Long tallied 31 points in a good show for Byrne but his teammates were all in double figures. Champ Holstein's 16 markers led the Bait Box squad.

Winners Named In Annual CYO Foul Shooting

Winners were crowned Saturday in the annual CYO Foul Shooting Contest which had been postponed from November because of the assassination of President Kennedy. The competition was held at the Myron J. Michael School.

Anthony Tony of St. Mary's captured the Junior division title in a throw-off with Vince Fisher, a teammate, with four out of five.

Other divisional winners were: Joe Maurer, St. Mary's, Pee Wee; Joseph Primo, St. Mary's; Tyro; Steven Longendyke, St. Peter's; Jayvee, and Paul Olen, Immaculate Conception, Varsity.

The summaries follow: Pee Wees — 1. Jay Maurer, St. Mary's, 17 for 25; 2. Don Hastings, St. Mary's, 11 for 25; 3. John Tiano, St. Mary's, 9 for 25.

Tyros — 1. Joseph Primo, St. Mary's, 14 for 25; 2. Rickey Henry, St. Mary's, 13 for 25; 3. Frank Barry, St. Joseph's, 11 for 25.

Jayvees — 1. Steven Longendyke, St. Peter's, 9 for 25; 2. Dan Loeffler, St. Mary's, 8 for 25.

Varsity — 1. Paul Olen, Immaculate Conception, 12 for 25; 2. Mike Dunn, St. Mary's, 10 for 25.

Junior — 1. Vince Fisher, St. Mary's, 16 for 25; Anthony Tony, St. Mary's, 15 for 25; Victor Oleschuck, St. Mary's, 15 for 25. Tony won in throw-off.

Winners were awarded CYO medals in gold, silver and bronze in that order. About 70 boys competed in the tournament.

RPI West Point Win

Jack Baltz scored 27 points and Brian Williams 15 to pace RPI to a 46-43 win over Cincinnati in the YMCA Junior basketball league. S. Josefski hit 21 and Pete Lewis 20 for the losers.

Bill Brady's 22 and 16 by Larry Flowers carried West Point to 44-28 victory over the Globetrotters.

Name 36 Players to Try Out For Olympic Basketball Team

By TED MEIER Associated Press Sports Writer

The college basketball season isn't over yet. Ordinarily it would have ended Saturday with UCLA's run-away 98-83 victory over Duke for the national championship and Bradley's 86-54 romp over New Mexico in the "IT" final, but this is an Olympic year, remember?

That means there's a big show coming up April 2-4 with the Olympic tryouts at St. John's University in New York.

Eight teams, composed of the leading NCAA and NAIA college players, AAU and armed forces players, will compete for the 12 berths on the basketball team that will represent the U.S. at the Tokyo games in Japan in October.

Walt Hazzard and Gail Goodrich, who led UCLA through an unbeaten season with 30 straight victories, are among the 36 players from the NCAA named for the Olympic tryouts.

Others include Cazzie Russell of Michigan, which took third place in the NCAA championship tourney by beating Kansas State 100-90; Willie Murrell of Kansas State, Jeff Mullins of Duke, Billy Cunningham of North Carolina, Barry Kramer of New York University and Bill Bradley of Princeton.

Declines Invitation

Also Cotton Nash of Kentucky Mel Counts of Oregon State, Jim Barnes of Texas Western, Ray Carey of Missouri, Jim Davis of Colorado, Wayne Estes of Utah State, Les Hunter of Chicago, Loyola, Bud Koper of Oklahoma City, Doug Moon of Utah, Butch Kovich of Bowling Green and Gary Bradds of Ohio State, and Garry Sloan of

The high flying 50 Club exploded for 47 points in the second half to trounce Schaller's Texaco, 80-46 in the YMCA "B" basketball league Saturday.

In the companion game, Hub Delicatessen widened a 26-22 halftime lead to defeat Corner Rest, 64 to 48.

Rick Broberg and Bill Huber, who potted 21 points each, set the pace as 50 Club built up a 33-18 halftime lead and continued to widen the gap against Schaller's after the recess. Bill Tomassie aided with 14 points and Bill Chase added 13.

Richie Nagle and Pete Coffey scored 15 points each for Schaller's.

Komosa Scores 24

Don Komosa's 24 points for Hub Delicatessen took individual honors for the night. Tony Causa rimmed 16 and Nick Nagle 10.
Jack Niles and Joe Beaver hit 13 points each for Corner Rest. Bill McCabe added 10.

Evansville, the NCAA small college champs.

Bradley, selected by The Associated Press as the college basketball player of the year, said Saturday, however, he planned to decline the invitation because it would interfere with his studies.

Fred Hetzel of Davidson, Ron Bonham of Cincinnati, Joe Caldwell of Arizona State, Ollie Johnson of San Francisco, Bennie Lenox of Texas A&M, Manny Newsome of Western Michigan, Steve Thomas of Xavier, Ohio, and John Thompson of Providence also were named along with Dave Stallworth of Wichita, Paul Silas of Creighton and Willie Jones of Villanova.

The players will be divided in Red, White and Blue teams for practice games this week before the trek to New York.

The Red team, composed of Bradley, Kovich, Jones, Russell, Mullins, Silas, and Stallworth and Counts, will play on Thursday in Los Angeles against UCLA.

The White and Blue teams will play at Cincinnati Thursday. On Saturday, UCLA will play another group at Evansville, Ind. while the other selected players appear at Lexington, Ky. in a benefit for the basketball Hall of Fame.

Dodge City, Kan., again won the national junior college championship Saturday by beating Casper, Wyoming, 73-68. A week ago Rockhurst won the NAIA championship by upsetting Pan American.

The AAU championship tournament started Sunday in Denver.

Valley Cage Play To Start Tonight

Action in the 21st annual Poughkeepsie YMCA Hudson Valley Basketball tournament will get underway tonight at the Bridge City court.

In the 7:15 opener, Schatz-Federal of Poughkeepsie will oppose DuPont of Newburgh. Stewart Air Force Base of Newburgh will meet Chakes Furniture of Yonkers in the 8:15 second game. Ray's Tackle Shop of Kingston has drawn a first round bye in the tourney and will swing into action Wednesday, Apr. 1 against the winner of the Pat Restaurant of Newburgh and Battistoni Restaurant of Dover Plains game, slated for this Wednesday at 7:15.

Current Lincoln-Mercury with York Larese in the lineup, is defending champion and is favored to repeat.

HIGH GAME AWARDS:Three members of the Kingston Bowling Association were awarded high single game awards of the American Bowling Congress at the recent association dinner. From the left: Bob Shlightner, a ring for a 298 game; Chris Gallo, a clock for his second 300 game; and Herb Petersen, a ring for his first 300 game. The presentations were made by Richard Waltman, KBA secretary treasurer.

Satisfied that everyone has inked his pact and that the Grapefruit League is in full swing? Then how about the little divertimento, like pro football poop in the spring?

Dick (Little Mo) Modzelewski, late of the New York Giants, was offered to a couple of other clubs before the Cleveland Browns snapped him up. The Baltimore Colts, after looking at films, turned him down. . . .

The Giants, the grandpappies of pro ball, are singing a different tune since they got rid of some old timber. "The same people," said front office boss Well Mara, "who used to say 'When you gonna get rid of some of those old players?' now ask us, 'Why are you trading all those good players?'" . . . Well remembers that when he first got Little Mo from the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1956, the defensive tackle proclaimed, "We're going to win a championship this year and then I'm going to retire." . . . He stayed on for six out of eight division titles. . . .

Bears are looking for a wide receiver to pair with Johnny Morris, since the combined receptions of Bo Farrington (21) and Angie Coia (11) was 10th among National Football League split ends. . . .

Don't kid yourself that Paul Hornung, Green Bay's Golden Boy, didn't lose touch on his year's hiatus from play. Television and promotional work didn't come close to making up the lost salary. . . . If dapper Paul wants to be inconspicuous, how come that scarlet sports coat usually draped over his sloping shoulders? . . . The Hornung clause in Green Bay hadn't slackened. Most of the 25 letters a month that flooded the league office in recent months were from Packers kids pleading for Paul's reinstatement. . . .

Know how Alex Karras, the other half of the Daily Double, spent last winter? The Detroit tackle was at the YMCA in Clinton, Iowa, daily, teaching his four-year-old son how to swim. . . .

Joe Kuharich, new coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, left the security of his job as director of NFL officials because he didn't feel he could turn down a chance to be the complete boss of a pro football team. Early premise when the ownership of the Eagles changed hands was that Jerry Wolman, the young construction millionaire, would move to Philadelphia. But since he now intends to remain in Washington, that leaves Kuharich in full charge. . . .

Because the Pittsburgh Steelers suffered through a drought in their area last summer (they couldn't even water down the field), the club shifts training operations to Rhode Island this year. . . .

Carlton Chester (Cookie) Gilchrist's letter to management asking the Buffalo Bills to "give serious consideration to the trade offers made for me by other AFL clubs" doesn't consider that the Bills initiated some of the trade talk . . . and would let the unhappy fullback go if they could get anything in comparable value. . . . Well, at least, Cookie, it beats playing tackle for Sarnia (in the Canadian Provincial League), which is how he got started in pro ball a decade ago. . . .

The burly backcourt leader of the University of Pittsburgh basketballers, Brian Generalovich, acts as if he'd be more at home on a football field. . . . and that's exactly where he'll be this spring, trying out for the Panthers as a split end (he has already been drafted by the Steelers and was an all-state high school tackle). . . .

Between you'n me, didn't agency pressure, and not schedule problems, cause the breakdown of the proposed Friday night pro football package on ABC? . . . with the prospective automobile sponsor panicky about its image after the deluge of critical letters from high school and college interests. . . .

Casper Wins On Final Hole

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Plump Billy Casper is the latest tournament winner, but 1964 looks like the first year in a decade when no great stars will emerge to dominate the professional golf ranks.

When Casper collected his $7,500 first prize after fighting off a challenge by Jack Nicklaus on the last green to win the $50,000 Doral Open Sunday, he became the 11th winner in 11 tournaments this year.

Casper shot a final found 70 for a 277 total. Nicklaus had a 278. Rex Baxter had 71 for 279 and third place. Tied for fourth with 281s were Sam Snead with a final day 71 and Jack Rule Jr. with a 72.

During a 14-tournament span reaching back into last year, there have been 14 separate winners.

Never in Professional Golfers Association history has there been such a long period in which no player has won twice.

With Sunday's victory, Casper rocketed from 43rd to fifth place in the money-winning list with a total of $10,112. In eight earlier tournaments, he had cashed only $2,612 in pay checks. Nicklaus, winner of one tournament this year, picked up 2-0.

Two strokes behind Casper going to the 18th, Nicklaus dropped his second shot 20 feet from the pin. Casper hit his second into a sand trap at the edge of the green and blasted out to 18 feet.

By sinking his putt for a birdie, while Casper was two-putting for a bogey, Nicklaus could have forced an 18-hole play-off and took plenty of time lining mounted.

But the ball missed the cup by two inches and rolled three feet past. Casper then missed his putt but happily accepted the bogey that left him a stroke ahead.

Wehle Contest To Be Conducted For 19th Year

The Louis A. Wehle Fishing Contest will be conducted for the nineteenth consecutive year, starting April 1, coincidental with the opening of the trout season.

As in previous years, Wehle, former of New York State and Chairman of the Board of the Genesee Brewing Co. Inc., of Rochester will offer $5,135.00 in cash prizes for the largest freshwater fish entered in each of twelve classifications. Prizes will be awarded monthly for the seven-month period ending October 31, at which time Grand Prizes will be awarded for the largest fish in each classification entered during the seven-month season. Licensed guides are also eligible for prizes if they guided winners of a Grand Prize at the time the prize-winning fish was caught.

195 Monthly Prizes

There will be available 195 monthly prizes, thirty-six Grand Prizes and twelve Guides' Prizes. The eligible fish are Largemouth Bass, Smallmouth Bass, Rock Bass, Northern Pike, Walleyed Pike, Muskalonge, Perch, Pickerel, Brook Trout, Brown Trout, Rainbow Trout and Lake Trout. The contest is open to all residents of New York state for fish caught in New York state waters on rod, reel and line.

A new Fishing Guide listing previous winners, how to identify some of New York state's fish, the best prize-winning lures of the past, the best fishing months of the year, and much additional interesting information is now available at sporting goods stores, boat livers, bait shops, fishing camps, hardware stores and wherever fishermen congregate. Copies may also be obtained without charge by post-card request to Mr. L. A. Wehle, 100 National Street, Rochester, New York, 14605.

Name Daniel Steltz CYO Athletic Leader

To Plan Spring, Summer Activity

Daniel Steltz, a long time Catholic Youth Organization enthusiast, is the new chairman for the CYO athletic programs in the Ulster county area. His appointment was announced today by County Moderator, Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, and County Director Leo A. Schupp.

Steltz attended St. Peter's parochial school in Kingston and was graduated from St. Patrick's school in Catskill. He attended Dutchess Community College in Poughkeepsie and at present is enrolled in a special Dale Carnegie course now being given in Kingston.

Long identified with CYO sports in the area, Steltz played CYO basketball and baseball in his grammar school days. For the past 10 years he has been associated with the CYO program, assisting as a coach and officiating basketball games.

Widely Recognized

Steltz's contributions to the CYO sports program have been twice recognized in the past when he received the "Cardinal Spellman Award for Youth" in 1960 and the "Ulster County Award" given annually to outstanding contributors toward a county CYO program in 1961.

He is a brother to the Rev. John Steltz, a mentor at Cathedral High, and an outstanding member of the clergy in the metropolitan area. In youth work, with residence at St. Athanasius Parish in the Bronx. Steltz is married to the former Carol A. DeCicco and is employed with the Kingston office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

He will begin his new assignment in the near future with the organization of a spring and summer athletic program which will include several boys baseball league, track and field events, along with trips to major national sporting events.

Middletown Wins Section 9 Crown

Dennis Terwilliger walloped a 688 series and Middletown reversed an earlier setback by trimming Kingston High to win the Section Nine bowling championship over the weekend.

The local quintet, coached by Harold Hathaway, trimmed the Middies for the DUSO crown. Terwilliger was red hot this time with solos of 235, 253 and 200. John Morse hit 617 to aid his teammate.

John A. Schatzel opened with 236 and then added 194 and 205 for 635 to pace the KHS pin squad. Tibor Tomshaw clouted 163, 233 and 224 for 620.

The Middies finished with a 2848 series, beating the locals by 72 pins.

Terwilliger earned a trophy for high triple while Schatzel picked up an award for the high single.

Following the top two teams were Nyack and Spring Valley of the Rockland County League. In Class B, Valley Central was the winner with Sufferin finishing second. Onteora getting third and Monroe-Woodbury fourth.

Highland Falls, Liberty and Cornwall were the top three teams in Class C and D.

The action took place at the Campi-Tarsio Lanes in Newburgh.

Saugerties Defeats Kingston Team, 27-26

Mike Turek's basket with 54 seconds left gave the Saugerties squad a 27-26 win over Kingston and the championship of the Saugerties Junior Basketball championship Saturday at the Saugerties Municipal Auditorium.

In the consolation contest, Catskill ripped Onteora, 61-32.

Saugerties, coached by Bill Provst, trailed by a basket, 21-19, starting the final period. The winners stayed close to the Kingston entry before finally pulling it out on that bucket by Turek.

Catskill, which delighted the crowd with its ball handling and good shooting, moved to a 32-17 lead at the half and then coasted against the game but outmanned Onteora quintet.

Tom McCarthy and Mike Walsh hit 18 points each to pace the attack.

Spring Carnival Ends Ski Season

The skiing season just about ground to an end Sunday at the Highmount ski area with the holding of the annual Spring Carnival. Saturday's firm snow condition moderated in the warm weather conditions and Sunday's crowd enjoyed the mashed potatoes, the colorful costumes, and the general conviviality of the day.

Dale Brown of the Junior Trail Sweepers won the spur-of-the-moment obstacle race with a one-minute-flat clocking.

Skiers found it easy to spend a great quantity of the time in completing the spring frolic competition. Carol LeFevre from New Paltz required 4:40 to cover the same course Brown skied.

Wet Snowstorm Is East Bound, Hard On Western Herds

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—A wet spring snowstorm sloshed its way east today after dumping a foot of snow on Salt Lake City, hampering motorists and endangering livestock herds throughout the Rocky Mountain states.

Moisture also struck a damaging blow at the Los Angeles area. A steady downpour Sunday night washed glaciers of mud down hillsides swept by brush fires a week ago.

The Rocky Mountain storm left snow in uneven amounts; Salt Lake City received the greatest amount of moisture from any one storm since July 1962, but only three inches of snow fell 20 miles south at Provo, Utah. Billings, Mont., got seven inches within 12 hours.

Stockmen's warnings were issued for Wyoming, Montana and the Dakotas as the storm moved east, but the Weather Bureau said it was losing its punch as it neared the Plains, bringing only clouds and light precipitation.

The Los Angeles mudslides brought crews from the Glendale, Burbank and Los Angeles fire departments to the hardest hit areas. Mud parked in garage doors, moved parked cars and covered sidewalks.

In New Mexico and the Texas Panhandle, the problem wasn't mud but dust, whipped up by 50-mile-an-hour winds on the southern fringes of the mountain storm. Presidio, Tex., reported severe dust storms and a high of 92 degrees Sunday, making it the hottest spot in the nation.

The dust turned skies brown in most of New Mexico. Several scheduled airline flights were delayed at Albuquerque.

Production of paper and paper board reached an all-time high of 39 million tons in 1963, the American Paper and Pulp Association reports.

CYO Teenagers Have Successful Mission Series

The Rev. Francis X. O'Brien this week completed the final in a series of special mission services which were attended for the past three Sunday evenings by more than 500 CYO Teenagers and their friends.

Father O'Brien, a member of the Jesuit Fathers, is Retreat Master for boys at the Gonzaga Jesuit Retreat House at Montrose. Having been a military chaplain for almost two decades and more recently assigned to work with men who were mostly homeless, outcasts, Father O'Brien had a vast background of experience from which to draw to illustrate his religious lectures dealing with the problems of teenagers.

The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, county moderator and his committee of priests who assisted with the services were elated at the overwhelming response of the teenagers and their enthusiasm for this annual mission making it even more successful than the first which was sponsored by the Ulster County Council of CYO Teen Age Clubs last year.

Priests who assisted Father O'Brien during the mission were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph D. Ostermann, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. O'Reilly, the Rev. Joseph G. McInerney, the Rev. Robert J. Duggan, the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, the Rev. Joseph Irwin, the Rev. William Williams and the Rev. Bernard Garrity.

Following the mission and Holy Hours which were held on three Sunday evenings during March at St. Peter's, St. Mary's and St. Joseph's Churches, the youth were entertained by the host parish CYO. Clubs for refreshments and social hour.

Plan Other Events

Plans are being made by other county councils in the Archdiocese of New York to set up similar spiritual activities on county levels. In April the Archdiocese officials of the CYO will set up a county council for Apostolic activities with a weekend of conferences and forums on the various phases of an Apostolic program. This event will be held at the new St. Joseph's School.

James Fisk of St. Catherine Labouré Parish, Lake Katrine was teenage chairman of the mission program and expressed his deep satisfaction to all who participated and congratulated the groups from Saugerties, Rosendale and other communities for arranging transportation so that such large numbers could attend.

Charge Women Issued Fraudulent Checks

Kingston State Police reported today that two women were arrested over the weekend on warrants charging them with issuing fraudulent checks.

Sergeant H. S. Rhodes, Kingston sub-station, said BCI Investigator James Kaljian arrested Barbara Williams, 36, of Ulster Park, on a check charge. Troopers said the woman was fined $10 at arraignment before Justice of the Peace S. Parks Glenn, Town of New Paltz.

BCI Investigator Joseph Ventriglia, according to Sergeant Rhodes arrested Helen Pollack, 40, of Glenview Park, on a warrant issued in Nassau County, accusing her of issuing a fraudulent check. She reportedly posted $20 bail pending disposition of the charge.

Miller Is Booked On Assault Charge

Arrested early Sunday after a reported disturbance at the Katsbaan Tavern, Thomas James Miller, 23, of Blue Mountain, Town of Saugerties, was booked on a charge of second degree assault.

State Police Sergeant H. S. Rhodes, Kingston sub-station, said Miller was arrested by BCI Investigator James Kaljian on a warrant issued on complaint of the tavern proprietor, Everett Merz, who accused the defendant of assaulting him.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Robert Ferrigan, Town of Kingston, Miller waived preliminary examination and was ordered held for grand jury action, according to Sergeant Rhodes.

Bard Loses Quiz To Ohio Wesleyan

Bard College, Annandale-on-the-Hudson, bowed Sunday to Ohio Wesleyan panelists, and lost the College Bowl General Electric televised quiz by 230-115.

Bard received $1,500 scholarships on two previous Sundays by topping their opponents in the GE quiz. Bard was awarded a $500 scholarship yesterday, increasing their total earnings to $3,500.

Bard panelists were, John R. Barr, Washington, D. C.; David Johnson, captain, of Berkeley, Calif.; Linda Magnusson, Weymouth, Mass., and Charles Hollander, Old Greenwich, Conn.

Damone, Wife Injured When Car Hits Tree

BISHOP, Calif. (AP) — Officers say singer Vic Damone, recovering with his wife today after a spectacular auto accident, must have been flying when his sports car left the road, fell into a shallow canyon and hit a tree.

After seeing the car jammed among the trees, patrolman Alan K. Stoll said Damone "must have flown it in; you can't drive in there."

The car, an Italian-made Ferrari worth about $15,000, was demolished. Damone had bought it only five hours before the accident Sunday.

A doctor said the 35-year-old singer suffered abrasions, lacerations on his left cheek and behind one ear, severe bruises and a slight concussion.

His wife, Judy, 27, suffered a concussion, bruises and slight cuts. Damone was expected to be released from a hospital here today, but his wife would remain longer, said Dr. Roy Hartwig.

Patrolmen said the Damones were southbound on U.S. 395 at an elevation of 8,000 feet, about 50 miles north of Bishop, in the heart of the High Sierra, when the car skidded along an embankment for about 140 feet, crossed the highway and plunged 50 feet into a shallow, forested canyon.

Bids on Street Materials Will Be Opened April 8

Bids for materials to be used in street construction will be opened April 8 by the Board of Public Works, it was announced today.

The bids are to be for liquid asphalt, bituminous concrete, Dix Seal, crushed stone and screenings, traffic paints, Portland and masonry cements, liquid chlorine, and for roof repairs at the public works garage.

Bids will be received at the BPW office, City Hall, until 4 p. m. April 8, and will be opened at 6:30 p. m. in the office of Mayor John J. Schwenk. Detailed specifications and instructions may be obtained from the BPW office.

Furniture in Hotel Will Be Up for Grabs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Women will make a "renovation raid" Saturday on the Neil House, landmark hotel facing the Ohio statehouse—with every stick of furniture in 100 rooms up for grabs.

Couches, beds, chairs, desks—anything they can "sit on, grab and claim"—are fair game.

The only charge is $2 for a brunch in the hotel ballroom, where teams of 50 females will be assigned for 15-minute games of "tag." The tagging will be of whatever furniture they claim, one to a customer, to be picked up later.

The hotel recently came under new ownership which wants to refurbish those 100 rooms of the 650-room structure.

More Burglaries Reported in Area

Burglars entered the Rockland Cabins office, Quarryville, sometime Saturday night, peeled the door off an old safe, and made a getaway with about $325, according to State Police Sergeant H. S. Rhodes, Kingston sub-station.

The place was entered through an unlocked window, troopers reported. The burglary was discovered early Sunday, when Kingston state police were notified.

Sergeant Rhodes reported the loot included $200 in bills, $100 in dimes and 25 silver dollars.

BCI Investigator Joseph Ventriglia investigated. Burglaries at five summer homes in the Olive Bridge and Krumville areas also were reported over the weekend to Kingston troopers. No further details of those breaks were available this morning, as authorities were trying to locate the owners.
